U.S. Traffic Claims 153, Rate Is Easing Ave Urges Program for Needy to Combat Soviet

Five-Year World Aid Advocated Economic Threat Called Paramount

HAMILTON, N. Y. (AP)—Gov. Harriman called today for a five-year program of world aid to underdeveloped countries to help them resist the lure of Communist promises.

Harriman suggested that President Eisenhower should ask the United Nations to make a survey of minimum capital needs in such countries "to break through vicious circles of poverty and establish new cycles of economic growth and advancement."

Sees Job for UN

A "highly expert" committee of the U. N. could do the job and draw up a program in which all industrialized nations, including the Soviet Union, would be invited to participate, he said.

The Democratic governor, who has been an ambassador to Moscow and a Mutual Security Administrator, advanced this plan in a speech prepared for delivery at Colgate University's annual foreign policy conference. About 250 are attending the five-day meeting, which ends today.

Friday night, the president of the United Nations General Assembly proposed establishment of a permanent international army, to be made up of smaller U. N. members.

New Attack on Ike

Harriman's talk was another of the strong attacks he has been making on the Eisenhower administration's conduct of foreign affairs.

The governor said the Soviet challenge to the free world through economic means posed more of a threat than armed force. He said the free world was losing ground because its private market could not supply "enough of the right kind of development capital to the right countries for the right purposes."

Notes Central Problem

The central problem, he said, was for the free world to equip itself with dependable institutions that will dispense a "reliable and adequate flow of funds" to underdeveloped countries.

Harriman asked the conference to "consider what might be the result if the President, in accents of world leadership," proposed such a United Nations program. If the Soviet Union agreed to participate, he said, "good could result." But if Russia should decline, he continued, then "her motives... would be exposed, her influence restricted and the rest of the world could get on with the work of building in freedom."

Sir Leslie Munro, New Zealand's ambassador to Washington and General Assembly president, made the international army proposal.

Three Rescued After Crash

Planes, Ships Combing Pacific Area for Five

HONOLULU (AP)—Planes and ships combed the mid-Pacific 600 miles southwest of here today for five men still missing after the crash of an Air Force C124 Globemaster with nine men aboard early Friday.

Three men were picked up in apparently good condition after nearly 12 hours in the water, and one body was recovered shortly after noon.

Body Not Identified

The body was not immediately identified, but the names of four of the five missing men were released by the Air Force.

Those rescued were the plane's commander, Capt. Jonathan W. Brown, of Travis Air Force Base, Calif., where the big plane was based; the flight engineer, T.Sgt. James M. Phillips, of Vacaville, Calif.; and the second flight engineer, S.Sgt. C. van Derde of San Rafael, Calif.

Three of the crewmen still missing were identified as Lt. Gerald J. Bona, Vacaville, the navigator; Airman I.C. Charles E. Entekin, Atlantic City, N.J., loadmaster; and S.Sgt. Thomas Pasco, Fairfield, Calif.

Reports Engine Trouble

One crewman remained unidentified because his family could not be located in the Travis AFB area.

One of the couriers who joined the Tokyo flight in Honolulu was identified as Capt. Charles Spears, whose wife, Elsie, lives in Honolulu and whose sons, Mr. and Mrs. Russ. E. Spears, live in Ironton, Ohio. The other was identified only as a Navy chief petty officer.

The three survivors aboard the carrier Boxer told investigating officers that two of their comrades died in the sea prior to the arrival of help.

The survivors said they knew nothing of the fate of the others except that shortly after the crash they heard a voice cry out and saw a flashing light briefly at a distance, but they couldn't make contact again.

Early Friday morning the big $1,700,000 plane radioed it had a runaway engine, could not feather the prop, was losing oil and asked permission to land at tiny Johnston Island 200 miles ahead. It was not heard from again.

A search immediately converged on the spot, organized by the aircraft carrier Boxer en route from Eniwetok to Pearl Harbor.

A search plane from the famed Hawaii-based 76th Air Rescue Squadron made the first sighting. "We were flying at about 700 feet when one of the crew saw some debris," said Capt. Robert H. McCully. "We immediately turned and saw a mirror flashing and some sea water dye. We notified the Boxer and she sent over four choppers."

Rescue Is Quick

Within minutes the three men were lifted from the packing crate to which they had been

Child Killed, 20 Are Hurt In Fireworks Plant Blast

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—A fireworks plant on the eastern edge of the city blew up in a shower of fire and debris early today. A child was killed. At least 20 were injured.

Firemen took the body of a small girl from the wreckage of a house near the explosion. They were investigating reports two other persons may have been in the house. The names were not available.

Providence Hospital said it had admitted 18 with injuries. Firemen were also looking for a watchman reported to be in the plant.

Signal Fireworks Co., a plant — two "dinks 100 feet long — blew up with a thunderous roar that awakened most of the city at 1:45 a. m.

The explosion wrecked two houses. It smashed doors and windows of a nearby motel and "blew off part" of the roof. Debris from the wrecked plant and houses covered the streets around them.

The heaviest damage was confined to a two-block area around the fireworks plant. But smashed (Continued on Page 16, Col. 7)

Things Are Booming in Few Fields

Steel, Auto Gain Still Months Off

By WALTER BREEDE JR.
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Business ventured into the second half of 1958 this week with some lines up and others down.

In steel and autos it looked like a long, hot summer. Informed observers said a production pickup was a good two months away.

Closer to Main Street, things were booming for purveyors of sun tan lotion, soda pop, air conditioners, water skis, bathing suits, Bermuda shorts and beer.

Retail Sales Up

Nationwide, the summer retail picture was anything but gloom. Dun & Bradstreet said total retail sales for the week ended Wednesday averaged only two per cent lower than a year ago when a pre-fourth of July buying binge broke all records.

Congressional approval of the Alaskan Statehood Bill opened up new vistas. Retailers toyed with the notion that Alaska as a full-fledged state may attract an influx of settlers and may eventually provide a new market with an almost unlimited potential.

Celebration for Some Companies in the guided missiles field had cause for celebration this week. From the Pentagon came a string of fat contracts: $48,867,850 to Douglas Aircraft for Nike-Hercules launchers; $20,708,000 to Western Electric for Nike-Hercules and Nike-Ajax parts; $2,500,000 to Hycom Manufacturing Co. for missile test sets for the Navy.

Fighting Breaks Out in Beirut; Rebels Repulsed

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Fighting broke out in Beirut again today when 80 rebels tried to break out of the Basta Moslem quarter and were repulsed by security forces.

Firing in several sectors of the capital began early this morning and was still going on in the afternoon. This was the second straight day of fighting here after a period of comparative calm.

Government forces shelled the house of rebel leader Saeb Salam in the Basta late Friday night. Salam told The Associated Press the shelling had occurred after a long exchange of fire in which eight of his men were killed and four wounded.

In the northern port of Tripoli three persons were killed and six injured during an eight-hour fight last night and early today.

Maan Karami, brother of opposition leader Rashid Karami, told The Associated Press by telephone that security forces had shelled almost all districts in Tripoli with heavy mortars. An unofficial truce still prevailed, however.

U.S. In New Move to Free 45 In Cuba

HAVANA, Cuba (AP)—U.S. Consul Park Wollam prepared today for another effort to win release of 45 North Americans kidnaped by Cuban rebels.

Wollam returned to the U.S. Navy base on Guantanamo Bay in eastern Cuba Friday night after reporting to the American embassy here on his first venture into the jungles to seek freedom for rebel captives.

The diplomat brought back Wednesday four Americans and one Canadian after his first negotiations with rebel Raul Castro. Raul's brother, Fidel, the leader of rebels trying to overthrow President Fulgencio Batista, reportedly ordered Raul to release the other 43 Americans and two Canadians he was holding, but apparently something went wrong.

Wollam would only say, "It is my intention to resume contact with the rebel forces in the near (Continued on Page 16, Col. 4)

UN Chief Urges Permanent Army Of Small Units

HAMILTON, N. Y. (AP)—The president of the United Nations General Assembly proposes establishment of a permanent international army, to be made up of smaller U. N. members.

Sir Leslie Munro, Assembly president and New Zealand's ambassador to Washington, made the suggestion Friday night at Colgate University's annual foreign policy conference.

He said the U. N. Emergency Force in the Middle East, made up of smaller members, had done much good work and urged that a permanent force be created at the next meeting of the Assembly.

Sir Leslie called also for the establishment of a permanent corps of observers who could be sent immediately to trouble spots.

Hoax Letter Spins Propaganda Wheels

Ex-RAF Man Admits He Penned Note On U.S. A-Bomb Drop Off England

LONDON (AP)—A farmer who was discharged by the Royal Air Force for mental instability has admitted writing a letter saying a U.S. pilot would drop an A-bomb off England.

The letter to the Soviet Embassy here set diplomatic and propaganda wheels spinning from Washington to Moscow, even though it had been labeled a hoax.

A small-town British reporter tracked down Friday the mysterious "W" who signed the letter released by the embassy. He was William Stanley Whales, 34, an unemployed farm worker at Ipswich who hasn't been near a warplane for almost a year.

In a written confession, Whales accused the Russians of altering the meaning of his letter by omissions. The Soviet embassy had no immediate comment.

Whales said he wrote it to gain attention to his grievances against the RAF but the Soviet Embassy deleted those grievances before giving copies of the letter to the British Foreign Office and the press.

Bore Ipswich Postmark

The letter as made public seemed to come from a U.S. airman who planned to drop an atomic bomb in the North Sea near Britain and then fly on to Russia to seek asylum. Maybe a few people would be killed, but Russia's peace campaign would get some support, the published letter said.

The letter was postmarked last Saturday at Ipswich, 68 miles northeast of London. The Soviet Embassy said it was received Tuesday and made public Thursday — two days the letter said a bomb might be dropped.

The British Foreign Office said it suspected a hoax. The Russians conceded this publicly also. Scotland Yard was put on the case.

It was reporter Stuart Weston of the British Press Association who cracked the mystery. He figured the letter writer was someone with a grievance, not an American.

At Allegany Thursday night, James J. Magiera, 20, and Dean Read, 19, both of Salamanca, died when their car skidded and overturned. Five other young men in the car, all from Salamanca, were injured. They were taken to a hospital in Olean. None was in critical condition.

On Friday, John G. Balcore and his wife, Grace, of Webster, were killed when their automobile crashed into a tree near Adams, Jefferson County.

Quiet Holiday in County

Six Mishaps Reported By Area, City Police

Traffic deaths soared toward an all-time high in the nation with an average of nearly four persons dying every hour from vehicular mishaps, but Ulster County and Kingston were without any fatalities.

Local police reported two persons injured in the same number of automobile mishaps while Kingston state police reported three traffic mishaps and Ellenville state police one accident.

Traffic Heavy

State police reported traffic heavy at times in most areas, but the Highland station said that the holiday had been "as quiet as a winter Sunday."

Local police described the first day of the long holiday weekend as "rather quiet."

Upwards of 8,000 persons attended the second annual gala fireworks display, presented by

NEW YORK (AP)—Eugene E. Bannigan, 46, minority leader in the State Assembly, died Friday of a coronary occlusion in Regent Hospital here.

Bannigan, a barrel-chested man known for his debating skill and sense of humor, entered the hospital last Monday with what was believed to be a slight heart condition. He was said to be improving and expected to leave the hospital this weekend.

Over-All Deaths at 250 Figure Fatalities Close To NSC Estimate

Traffic deaths piled up at a record clip Saturday as the half-way mark was passed in the three-day Independence Day weekend.

Safety officials saw a glimmer of hope, however, in the grim statistics. The death rate eased a little after racing through the Fourth at a pace far above estimates made by the National Safety Council.

410 Deaths Predicted

The NSC has forecast a record high 410 deaths during the 78-hour period. At the midway point, fatalities were in line with advance estimates.

"Deaths are running tragically on schedule," said Ned H. Dearborn, NSC president. But as huge as the death toll is, it is running at a rate slightly lower than during the early hours of the holiday. We urge drivers to continue to use every possible precaution to bring the toll down.

Fireworks, once the big killer and culprit of Fourth of July celebrations, claimed its first victim early today. A child was killed and at least 20 persons were injured when a fireworks plant blew up in Portland, Ore.

Early Toll Ahead

But the mounting traffic toll is the current concern of safety officials. During the first half of the observance, highway deaths ran one-sixth ahead of those occurring during the recent Memorial Day weekend. That observance was marked by 371 traffic deaths, a record for a three-day Memorial Day holiday.

The previous record three-day weekend toll for a July Fourth observance was 407 deaths in 1955. A four-day Fourth holiday period claimed a record 491 in 1950.

Generally fair weather greeted motorists clogging the highways Friday during the early hours of the weekend. But, thunderstorms and showers put a damper on driving conditions Friday night.

Some 45 million cars were expected to roll up 12 billion miles (Continued on Page 5, Col. 5)

Thousands View July 4 Parade at Saugerties

Many thousands of area residents including visitors from throughout the Hudson Valley congregated in Saugerties Friday to participate in the day-long celebration of the 182nd anniversary of this nation's birth.

The annual July 4th parade stepped off at 1 p. m. with 18 floats, 22 marching units and eight drum corps in the largest parade ever assembled in Saugerties.

Catskill Float Wins

Catskill Post 110, American Legion with a float depicting the flag raising at Mt. Surabachi, Two Jims won the $75 first prize. Second prize of $50 was won by Boy Scout Troop 32, sponsored by Atoneement Lutheran Church, Saugerties.

Saugerties Fish and Game Club with a fishing pool, flowing waterfall and two boys fishing won the $25 third prize.

Honorable mention was awarded to Saugerties Methodist Church.

Crowd Favors Float

The crowd assembled near the judges stand at the Exchange Hotel on the Main intersection of the village applauded enthusiastically for the Saugerties Girls' Club float which many thought exemplified the theme — Our American Future — with its live picture of the first moon flight. The float consisted of 4,000 individually wired paper (Continued on Page 16, Col. 4)

Goldfine Appears Eager To Go On With Testimony

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bernard Goldfine, resting after two days of testimony, says he's looking forward to another appearance Tuesday before a House subcommittee investigating his troubles with federal agencies.

But the Boston textile manufacturer didn't say how far he would go in providing the subcommittee with details of $776,000 of uncashed checks. Investigators say his companies have issued the checks over a 16-year period. Goldfine talked pleasantly but hurriedly with newsmen Friday as he and his wife strode toward a plane that took them to Boston for the weekend. He traveled without the battery of attorneys who curbed his interviews on his arrival and during much of his stay in the capital.

"I'm looking forward to my return very much," he said, adding that he'd be back a day ahead of his scheduled date with the subcommittee.

"I think very well of the committee," he commented. "I think (Continued on Page 16, Col. 3)

The POWER of FAITH

by Howard Brodie

St. MATTHEW: When Christ said, "come, follow Me," Matthew, the tax collector, "rose and followed Him." With this tremendous affirmation of faith, Matthew became one of the 12 apostles and the author of the first gospel. He was present on the Mount of Beatitudes when Christ preached the Sermon on the Mount.

His account of it is considered one of the most magnificent passages in the New Testament. Matthew died a martyr to his faith in far off Parthia, where he had gone to preach Christ's message.

Your Life And Mine

The Influence of Trees

Have you ever stopped to think about how different our city would look if there were no lovely trees bordering our streets and dotting our yards? Suppose a destructive fairy descended upon our city some night, while we were all asleep, and removed every tree, being careful to cover up each spot—as only fairies can—and make it as though no tree had ever been. Who could possibly put into words the feeling we would have next morning when we opened our eyes upon a treeless town? And then suppose, after living without the trees for a few weeks, a helpful fairy came one night and put the trees all back. Next morning we'd be calling each other on the telephone, or remarking as we met at business, on the street or in the store, "Aren't the trees wonderful!" Emerson says in his essay on "Nature," that "if the stars should appear one night in a thousand years," men would "believe and adore; and preserve for many generations the remembrance of the city of God which had been shown." And what is true of the stars, is true also of the trees. If we had the trees only one week in a decade we would drink in their beauty while we had them with us. It is possible to grow so accustomed to beauty that we look right at it and never see it.

Trees, like people, cast their influence upon us. Who can stand gazing intently upon the leafy majesty of a lovely tree without feeling that there is a noble grandeur about life? "Today I have grown taller from walking with the trees," says Mrs. Thomas Ellis Baker—who wrote under the pen name of Karle Wilson. She was paying tribute to the influence of trees. In similar vein Hamlin Garland confesses in beautiful lines what the trees have meant to him:

That stand like spear points high
Against the dark blue sky
Are wonderful to me.

There is inspiration in trees. They revive flagging spirits; and provide fresh courage for despondent hearts. When God seems far away because the going in life is hard, and the odds seem to be against us; the trees are there with their beautiful daily reminder that God is not dead; neither is He leagues and leagues away. For if, as Joyce Kilmer has said, "Only God can make a tree," then we know that the Maker cannot be very far away while nature's marvellous "making" is going on constantly in living reality—in living color, too—before our very eyes.

An ancient legend tells how Abraham found a tree in the oasis, and was puzzled how to express his appreciation and thanks for its kindness. He weighed all the possible means of saying thanks, and summed them up by expressing the hope that all who came near, or under the influence of the tree, might resemble it.

NEW YORK (AP)—A man held in a hit-and-run accident which caused the death of a child tried to hang himself while waiting for arraignment in Bronx Magistrate's Court.

Poor Attendance Cancels Out Space Age Panel Talk

HAMILTON, N. Y. (AP)—Is interest in the space age dying out?

At Colgate University's annual foreign policy conference, a panel dealing with missiles and rockets was called off Friday because of poor attendance.

Dr. Albert Parry, chairman of Colgate's Russian studies department and panel consultant, said the subject had been relegated to experts and teen-agers with the fall of Russia's dog-carrying Sputnik II.

The panel drew about 40 on the first day of the five-day conference but then declined to 23. About 250 are attending the sessions, which ends today.

POLITICAL HOT AIR VERSUS COLD FACTS
The advocates of socialized electric power shoot a lot of hot air, claiming that the people are backing them. Hence the Socialists are not tossing in the sponge. No give and take! It's all talk.

The utilities pay billions of $'s in taxes. The co-ops not a dime. It's easy to make a lot of noise, but they haven't the facts.

Congressman Berry, of South Dakota, asked the people of his district a bunch of questions. More than 68% said, "Keep the utilities free and out of Government hands." 49% were opposed to Federal operations; only 34% wanted Federal control.

Now comes another verdict from the jury. 73½% voted in favor of co-ops being taxed on the same basis as other business; only 15% said "NO." The remainder were undecided.

Now let's take a look at the situation in MR. HUTTON New York. Both Mayor Wagner and Governor Harriman are political invertbrates.

Congressman Ostertag, of New York, asked his constituents, "Should atomic energy for peaceful purposes be developed by the Federal Government?" 11% said "Yes," 27% said "Private Enterprise." For a partnership of both, about 57% said "Yes," and the remaining 4% were undecided.

While in California, Representative Baldwin inquired of his constituents how they felt about the Federal Government expanding its power production, as against private utilities. 30% were for Government expansion, 51% for private utilities.

World Briefs

LONDON (AP)—The United States and 14 allies were reported today arranging a conference to settle differences over easing and expanding trade with the Communist world.

Informed diplomats said under-secretaries of state from members of the Consultative group will meet in Paris July 18.

The group adjusts and supervises allied curbs on strategic trade with the Reds. It was organized during the depths of the cold war to try to keep Western goods from contributing to the Communist war machine.

CAIRO (AP)—A United Arab Republic spokesman was quoted today as saying there will be no retaliation for Lebanon's expulsion of six U.A.R. diplomats and an Egyptian teacher.

The pro-Western Lebanese government Friday ordered the seven out of the country within 48 hours on charges of inciting the Lebanese to revolt and paying money to foment revolution.

It was the first such action against U.A.R. diplomats, although Lebanon has been accusing President Nasser of inciting, arming and partially manning the eight-week-old rebellion.

Presidential Affairs Minister Aly Sabry was quoted in the newspaper Al Shaab as calling the action provocation by Lebanon to "increase tension in order to be able to press the West for foreign interference."

MEXICO CITY (AP)—A rift in the ranks of Mexican labor took on controversial political overtones today on the eve of nationwide elections for president and congress.

The squabble will not affect the presidential race, however. Adolfo Lopez Mateos is expected to be elected Sunday by an overwhelming majority of the 10,400,000 registered voters. His opponent is Luis H. Alvarez, an industrialist from Juarez running for the Party of National Action.

Practically all labor organizations support Lopez Mateos, the candidate of the Party of Revolutionary Institutions (PRI).

But some dissident labor leaders have advised their followers to oppose high labor officials who are running for congress on the PRI ticket.

MANILA (AP)—The Indonesian rebels reported today they are still putting up stiff resistance against the attacking government forces.

A rebel broadcast said three villages on a vital road in the North Celebes, Lembean, Tumaluntung and Kaima, have been re-occupied.

In Jakarta, the government said its forces are advancing steadily on the rebel centers of Tondano and Tomohon near Manado and expected heavy resistance there.

Police said the runaway fireworks also sent about 30 Italians fleeing in panic. Firemen estimated the damage to the cabanas at about $2,400.

Sees Alaska Giving Business Major Spur

By ERNEST GRUENING
Former Territorial Governor of Alaska

As Told to DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) —

One of the major immediate results of statehood for Alaska will be an emotional and spiritual boost to all Americans plus an inevitable rekindling of the pioneer spirit in the U. S.

This has been the traditional public reaction to the opening of a new frontier with the inclusion of a new state in the Union.

And at this particular grave moment in American history I believe the emotional impact of Alaskan statehood will be greatly enhanced in the U. S., certainly in Alaska and around the world.

Great Opportunities

Literally, and from emotional response, a new state will be a major spur to American business which has been suffering a recession for the past several months. Statehood, I know, will encourage many American firms to invest in Alaska now that the handicaps of territorial status have been lifted. Alaska offers tremendous new business opportunities.

Business, Social Impact

In Alaska, shedding the drawbacks of territorial status will naturally have tremendous business and social impact. After World War II hundreds of American GIs who had been stationed there and fell in love with the land stayed to raise families, or quickly returned.

There were thousands of other GIs who have always wanted to move to Alaska. But they have been kept from doing so by the second-class citizenship they would have to accept. Now that barrier is soon to be removed and the movement to Alaska is sure to be great.

Other thousands of Americans, who have the same pioneer spirit in their souls which inspired the early settlers to come to this country, will heed the call of a new frontier now that it is an integral part of their own country.

Tremendous for Others

The effect of statehood for Alaska on the rest of the world will be tremendous. I believe that it is coming at just the proper moment for possible reversal of the recent deterioration of feelings toward America around the world.

What America is doing is a demonstration to the world in a dramatic fashion that she practices what she preaches. This is an extension of the fundamental concept of American political philosophy that government operates only by consent of the governed.

Alaskan statehood will give the world a startling contrast to the way Russia has been handling her satellite countries, which has been by armed, brutal repression of satellite citizens and murder of leaders who dare to speak out against Russian Iron Controls.

The fact that Alaska once belonged to Russia makes this statehood action even more dramatic in the eyes of the world.

Necessary for Defense

Ever since the start of World War II when the Japanese invaded Alaska's outer islands it has been apparent that the inclusion of this highly strategic land within the union was necessary for adequate defense of the North American continent.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur once said that Alaska was difficult to protect as a territory because it is almost impossible to defend a vacuum. This of course will now be changed. As for the participation of Alaskans in the defense of the U. S., they will now no longer be subject to conscription—the draft—without representation. Even our colonial forefathers did not suffer this injustice under their English leaders.

It's difficult to explain to Americans, whose own enjoy-

Chambers School Nominates Four For Trustee Jobs

Nominated for trustees at a special meeting of Chambers School, Town of Ulster, on June 30, were John Vines, James Penrose and William Harbig, present trustees, and Leslie Hotelling to fill out the unexpired term of Edward F. Dingeldey, who has removed from the district. There were no opposing nomination petitions filed.

Presented at the meeting was the budget, totaling $364,000.

Approval was granted to have the school census taken and the results to be placed on IBM cards. June bills in the sum of $345,761 were audited and ordered paid.

ment of the rights and privileges of statehood are such an intimate part of their thinking that they are not conscious of these things, just what this move means to Alaskans.

I can assure you that the prospect of shedding the shackles of long-range bureaucratic and industrial control is thrilling. These shackles have prevented Alaska from realizing its full potential, economically and socially.

Statehood will change all that for the better, I can assure you.

ALL OR NOTHING

Men of good will everywhere on earth are deeply troubled at the mounting evidence that the Soviet Union has returned to the iron-fisted policies of Joseph Stalin.

The Kremlin is both talking tougher and acting tougher. In executing Imre Nagy and other Hungarians, Nikita Khrushchev for the first time in his long climb to power crossed the "blood line." Heretofore he has avoided that tried and true Stalinist technique of enforcement.

Russia has taken the cloak from its coarse gangsterism and allowed its well-coached bullies to attack or demonstrate before Western embassies in "retaliation" for spontaneous reactions in other countries.

It has thrown out stern threats in the Lebanon crisis, and warned Tito and any potential imitators that they who deviate from the Kremlin's line tread a perilous path.

It has threatened to pull out of nuclear test ban talks planned for Geneva.

In every medium, on almost every issue, Moscow shows its fist. Its smile, welcomed a few years back as a thaw is greeted in the Arctic, has faded.

Why has this change come about?

Speculation ranges widely. Khrushchev, say some, is acting to consolidate his power. Others say he prefers a softer line but is a virtual captive of tougher men and must act in response to their wish or go down.

Still others argue that both Russia and China, without for an instant yielding their dreams of world conquest, may have—for a time—genuinely embraced a softer policy toward the West and within their own orbits.

But they have learned, it is contended, that a little softness is a bad thing for totalitarian dictatorship. Freedom is a contagion which spreads quickly. Given tolerance, it will in time undermine the ruler's fortress.

Mao in China may have realized this sooner than Khrushchev. No matter, for today both have cut away the softness and stand before the world hard and unyielding.

If this is a valid interpretation of the ominous turn in Moscow and Peking, it could stand as sobering proof of an idea long held by many free men:

Ruthless suppression is inherent in totalitarian dictatorship, whatever its name. The dictator can permit no competitor, no rival idea, no offshoot, no thin ties of allegiance. His rule must be absolute and all-embracing or in the end it will be nothing.

This could be the deepest and most shattering truth underlying the change in the Kremlin. If it is, there is no cheer for any free man in knowing it.

Sherman Adams' landlady says the rug replaced by Goldfine's wasn't either shabby. And Adams is doubtless wishing it had never been pulled out from under him.

COULD BE

Senator Estes Kefauver, hardly political perennial, for a couple of weeks has been getting up in the Senate every day and making a short speech.

It has to do with the likelihood, not now quite so strong as when he started, of a July 1 price rise in the basic steel industry.

Each day he has ripped a page off the calendar and said in ceremonious tones: "Ten more days to July 1." Or: "Four more days to July 1." And then into his little spiel about the dangers of inflation.

Not a bad stunt. Plenty of evidence that inflation is worrying everybody from the President down to the lowest-paid worker.

There are always some skeptics, though. Some think these little verbal vignettes have been designed not simply to remind of inflation but to remind the country of Kefauver.

THE SHERMAN ADAMS CONTROVERSY

This must be said about Joe McCarthy: efforts were made to hear a witness in Executive Session before he appeared at an open hearing. Some witnesses spoke in one manner at an Executive Session and differently in open session. This often angered McCarthy and led to great troubles.

The so-called McCarthy-Army Hearings might have been averted. Joe McCarthy was not antagonistic to anyone in the Army and certainly not to Robert Stevens, the Secretary of the Army. Nor had the so-called position of Private David Schine anything to do with the case. I know about this in detail, and directly, and although I never testified at an open hearing, I did testify in Executive Session.

What brought on all the troubles was that the White House proposed that the Senate Committee continue all its investigations in Executive Session, send the transcripts to the White House, and that the President would then decide what should be done about it. In a word, the proposal made to the committee was, in effect, that the Senate abdicate its investigative powers and become subordinate to the President—a clearly unconstitutional act.

Joe McCarthy, who wished to live at peace with the White House, was convinced to the day of his death that it was Sherman Adams who destroyed the friendly relations between himself and President Eisenhower and who evolved that proposal. Nevertheless I can say and I am sure that Roy Cohn, the McCarthy Committee counsel, would join me in saying that the evidence offered the Harris Committee thus far would not have been accepted by the McCarthy Committee.

The investigation which gave McCarthy the greatest trouble was that at Fort Monmouth and involved General Ralph Zwicker. But if the records of the Committee were examined carefully, it will be found that what started that row was a wide discrepancy between statements attributed to General Zwicker by the investigators and his testimony at the hearing after a visit from John Adams, counsel to the Secretary of the Army.

But none of this testimony was as vague as that which Representative Harris permitted before his Committee concerning Sherman Adams. No documentary evidence of any kind has been produced. The best that can be said is that John Fox, who I am sure is sincere in assuming that he was wrecked financially by Sherman Adams, believes what he said. But what did he say? He said that Adams told him so and so; that Goldfine told him so and so; that Joseph Kennedy told him so and so.

That is not good enough. In this case the personality that is being destroyed is not a Fifth Amendment Communist or an American working a Russian spy against his own country, but a citizen who had been the Governor of his state and is now Assistant to the President. While all men are equal before the law, the evidence in this case seems inadequate for the conclusions generally reached.

If Sherman Adams has been a petty grafter, his crime is more heinous than anything done by an Apalachin hoodlum, because when a man seeks high responsibility, he has a moral duty not to besmirch the reputation of his office and of his country. It is for this reason and not out of any love for Sherman Adams, that one must judge this evidence carefully.

So far no evidence has been adduced which would be tolerated in any court of law under the rules of evidence. Except for about $4,000 or $5,000 of gifts over a period of 15 years of personal friendship, nothing has been established against Sherman Adams. If it can be proved that Adams had a relationship with Goldfine or any other person and actually obtained special considerations unavailable to other citizens and that this was done for pay, then this case would go to the courts for trial.

There is much talk about a comparison between those persons in the Truman Administration who accepted gifts and bestowed favors and the conduct of Sherman Adams. The evidence thus far does not make the cases comparable because the issue is what favors were obtained and precisely what do the records show. If the SEC or any other department of government gave Goldfine a favor unavailable to other citizens, then all involved should be brought into a court of law. No such evidence is yet available. Three-Month Vacation Gives Rough Time to Some Parents

It was a group of husbands and wives, but the women were doing most of the talking. The subject: their plans for their children's summer vacation.

One wife said they were sending all three children to summer camps and she was exhausted from buying camp clothes and equipment and sewing in name tags and taking them for medical and dental check-ups. Her husband asked wryly if anyone knew how much it cost to keep three kids in camp.

Another wife had all her children enrolled in summer courses. Swimming classes for two, gymnastics for one, art for another. She figured that chaffering them back and forth would keep her hopping.

A third wife said she was taking the children to the family's lakeside cabin and her husband would get down on weekends "when he could." He would be batching it while Mama and the children got away from the heat.

Then a husband, whose wife hadn't been heard from, spoke up and said: "I've taken care of the summer plans of our three. I told Joe, who is 13, that his allowance stopped one week after school ended. That gives him a week in which to find a job. So he'll be busy earning his own spending money."

"And I told the girls I want Jane to be able to take it a bit easier this summer. They are going to be responsible for part of the housework. Both have their jobs, and while they are helping make Jane's summer a little less hectic, they will be learning how to run a house, something they'll both probably be doing in not too many years."

So there's one man's answer to what to do with the kids in summer—let them become contributing members of the family circle.

And it is my guess that his children will finish the summer just as healthy and happy and far more self-reliant than the children whose parents are paying hard-earned money to have someone else keep them busy for three months.

Taxpayers in New York State would save $105,979,440 if the cut is made. A 19.3 per cent reduction would be the average of the cuts made by Congress in foreign aid over the last 10 years.

The State Chamber of Commerce states that Congress has provided more than $75 billion in foreign aid since the end of World War 2. On the basis of New York's present share of the Federal tax burden, the share of the cost of post-war foreign aid borne by New York taxpayers was estimated at over $10 billion.

Heaven

Washington News

BY PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON — (NEA) —

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson won a surprise victory for himself and the Eisenhower administration when the House of Representatives unexpectedly voted 214 to 171 to kill outright its omnibus farm bill.

This had been a political catch-all dreamed up by the House Agriculture Committee after months of study. It was an obvious bid for farm votes in this election year.

It tried to give some new benefit to almost every group of farmers in the country. The only crops omitted were tobacco and peanuts, whose planters didn't want or couldn't agree on what more they wanted.

The House bill tried to put over the discarded, two-price plan for wheat. It proposed mandatory barter for surplus crop disposal. It would have imposed new controls on milk and feed grain production.

In addition to all this, the House bill would have increased Department of Agriculture expenditures by an estimated billion dollars a year for the next several years.

THIS IS WHY BENSON called the bill "an economic monstrosity and a political hodgepodge."

By refusing to even consider the bill and by turning their deaf ears on Democratic leaders' appeals to try to amend the bill into acceptable shape, a majority of the congressmen showed unmistakably that they thought Ezra was right this time.

What future this action forfodes on farm legislation in the remainder of this session is uncertain.

While the House Agriculture Committee was playing political football with the farm issue in this fashion, several much-needed programs were running close to their expiration dates.

Among them are the agricultural surplus disposal program and the school, veterans and armed services milk programs. They were to end June 30, unless renewed. Also there's the National Wool Act, but it runs until next spring.

The Senate, taking a much saner approach to the farm situation, has already approved separate bills renewing these programs.

THE SENATE AGRICULTURE COMMITTEE has also reported out another farm bill which would come closer to meeting Secretary Benson's and President Eisenhower's repeated requests for lower and more flexible price supports and freer planting for cotton, corn, feed grain and rice farmers.

If the House could be persuaded to act on these Senate measures, the situation might not be so bad. But the lack of coordination between the Senate and House Agriculture committees this year has been notable.

If the House committee now goes into a sulk because of the shelling its omnibus bill took, action could be delayed.

The House Agriculture committee might try to bring in a new bill of its own. But in the end it is now expected to approve the Senate bills and let it go at that.

What all these shenanigans prove, if anything is that first and foremost it's nonsense to try to write new farm programs in election years. They always get in trouble.

THE MORE BASIC CONSIDERATION is that the farm problem—like foreign policy and the tariff—should no longer be considered a political issue. It is something that requires a bipartisan or nonpartisan approach as a business proposition and a question of sound economics.

The fundamental idea that Secretary Benson has been trying to put over is that the continued piling up of huge, multibillion dollar agricultural surpluses that can't be sold or even given away does not make economic sense.

For this stand the secretary has taken an unmerciful, personal political beating. But a few victories like he has just scored in the House might indicate that things were beginning to go his way.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Invited by the Gentlemen's Home Journal to weave my memories of a busy life, I went back to our old homestead, known throughout Rhode Island as the old Pegler place, which we sold recently to the government for the Pegler Memorial Library. Standing there on the gracefully curving flagstone walk, I seemed to see her again. She was elfin and shy and her golden hair seemed as a picture-frame enclosing her quiet, violet eyes and wistful profile. My daddy had been religious editor for Frank Munsey's Publications, but he had resigned on an issue of principle. He had used the word "damn," but in a purely religious context, and Mr. Munsey had sent him a curt note: "We publish nothing in the Munsey Press which might offend the pure in heart."

In the meantime we had moved to Dodge City and daddy took me by the hand, fidgeting indignantly, and led me down by the Belle Starr Saloon where he partook of an overdraft of spirits. His self-control was shaken. He then led me down to watch the local boys marching home victorious from the war. My elfin goddess was there with her Auntie Mary, a prim lady lady known as La Gorgon, a rather clumsy allusion to the local superstition that her grandfather in London had invented Gordon gin. Actually, it was Chutney. I shyly smiled at my goddess, but she was repelled by my freckles, as big as cornflakes, and ran down the street, hippy-hop, after a handsome little fellow who was walking along in a velvet suit with a lace collar and high button shoes. He was carrying a violin case, on his way to his lesson, and rolling an enormous hoop with a jeweled baton, for his family were foreigners and so musical they made me sick. This little fellow's name was Paul Gallico. Later, he caused some disturbance with a fantastic novel about a tom-cat that apparently had deviant tendencies, for the title of the book was Thomasha. I had wanted to read it, but make sure, but my spiritual adviser says quite, and I quote, no unquote. The years rushed by and when I next heard of her she had developed unmistakable literary leanings. Margaret Case Harriman, an affectionate colleague of hers on the old Vanity Fair—Eheu! how time flies!—spotted this one bright Sunday morning at Joseph Hergesheimer's home where they were spending a weekend. Little Clare had just early, stole down to the library and curled up with a stack of books, chosen from the great shelves. When Margaret came down for her coffee she espied a winsome vision in frilly things, bathed in sunlight, quietly sipping pages of first editions of Ignacio Carlos Balzac.

Clare and Margaret used to talk "girl talk," mostly about boys, as Margaret told me one night as we tarried late over our more oyster stew, double-cream, at the Union News Oyster Bar in Grand Central. Margaret said Clare had been secretly but remotely infatuated with Chauncey M. DePew and thereafter, in quick succession, with Kid McCoy, General Nelson A. Miles and Andrew Volstead—all before she was 14! Bernie Baruch once remarked to me with that dry humor which softens the clarity of his classical wisdom, "I sometimes wonder if she isn't prettier than I think she is."

Jimmy Londo, known as the limousine body, had said "the correct pronunciation is not stromBURLis pie, but strawberry pie," starting an intellectual controversy that raged for years. Henry Seidel Canby replied "Faugh!" and Gene Tunney exclaimed "Bosh!" long afterward, Marie McDonald adopted Jimmy's honorific but, for the purposes of the movie marquee, shortened it to "The Body."

There was a sturdy little tomboy on our street who licked little Dwight Eisenhower, little Harry Truman and little Cole Porter three nights running after school. It was stranger than fiction that this little tomboy, whose name was Perle Skavin, now Pele Mesta, became ambassador in Luxemburg. But, in the next turn of the wheel of destiny, our demure little Clare was put in nomination for vice president at the Republican convention and, by her sorcery, so enchanted Senator Vandenberg that he made a speech for James G. Blaine.

I was a grown man when I saw her next. I had received my degree from Yale and daddy sent me on a graduation cruise. And then, what was my fortune but to encounter the enchantress of my childhood presiding as Hoffman Ambassador over Paul Hoffman, Joseph P. Kennedy and the prominent advertising firm of Benton and Bowles in a seminar of friendship, loyalty and generosity under the auspices of the Bilderberg group at Via Corso 22, close to Alfredo's Ristorante, a prominent Roman eating house, where we were wearing a mink-skin coat. Chinchillas gave her hives.

I was speechless with pleasure and, if I may say so, love. And as my thoughts raced back through echoing halls of memory, I heard again with almost occult prophecy the words of Margaret Case Harriman that morning at Joe Hergesheimer's.

"But why, why?" Clare had pleaded so earnestly. "What makes a book valuable with uncopied pages and worthless when the pages are cut? Please, I want to know about that."

And Margaret gently and sweetly had observed, "There is a gal who is going to know everything, sooner or later."

BABSON on BUSINESS

By Roger W. Babson

Babson Park, Mass., July 5. As I have already expressed myself in these columns, I do not expect any shooting war to be started by Russia, and probably no chemical war. I do expect an intensified economic war and believe we are now in such an economic war, started by Russia some months ago.

One of the weapons Russia will use is Gold. Although over 50 per cent of the free world's annual production of gold comes from South Africa, Russia is now reported to be producing five hundred million dollars' worth a year; to have on hand eight billion dollars' worth to use as a weapon against us. This gold could be a real factor in breaking commodity prices and prolonging our business depression.

Probably Russia has in mind establishing a gold ruble which would have a constant value in foreign trade all over the world. This could make a great impression on both our allies and the backward nations. It should be an important weapon for Russia in the economic war in which we are now engaged. It seems, however, that as the next step in making a Russian ruble universal, the dollar will be agreed to the British insistence on mutual freedom of travel and communications and cease radio jamming anything related to business or finance.

Value of the Dollar
Previous to 1934 the American dollar was based on gold at a price of $20.67 per ounce. Under the Roosevelt Administration, the price was increased and the dollar diluted. It is said that Mr. Macmillan and President Eisenhower discussed the problem at their recent conference. They agreed that it should also be discussed with friendly nations; but this might cause them to become frightened and lead them to withdraw gold from the United States, which American investors do not want done.

Interfering with the price of gold would certainly cause more inflation. Many people think inflation is a bullish argument in the stock market; but it may not be so. If foreign nations withdraw very much gold, the bearish factors could offset the bullish.

Since 1950 Europe has increased its gold holdings to $8 billion, some from mining and purchasing in the open market and some by withdrawals from other countries. This especially applies to West Germany, the Netherlands, and Belgium. The latter country has also benefited from its large uranium holdings in Africa. During the last few months, our gold supply has been reduced $1 1/2 billion. At this rate we would lose over $3 1/2 billion's worth during 1958.

A statistical analysis of this loss shows that it has been due to a change in our foreign trade situation. Up until recently, our exports exceeded our imports, and our stock of gold increased. Now this tide has turned and our imports of raw materials and manufactured goods exceed our exports.

Naturally, there has been an increase in the price of gold shares which are traded largely on the London Stock Exchange and in Toronto. There are two reasons for this increase: (1) When business is in a recession, as at present, the cost of mining gold decreases. Since the price of gold after it is mined does not decline, this increases the profits of good gold mines. These profits have not been very satisfactory during the past few years and the prices of gold shares have been abnormally low. (2) The current talk about devaluation of the dollar has also been a factor, but this is a very speculative factor.

It seems to me, however, that aside from the above two reasons, readers are justified in holding a few good gold stocks—not for profits, but for security. While I see reasons why many stocks should decline in the next year, I see no reason why many good gold stocks should sell lower than they did a year ago.

It is illegal for American investors to store any raw gold in safe-deposit boxes in the United States or its possessions. I am, however, seeking a government ruling as to whether or not investors may store such gold in other nations. When I receive a copy of said ruling, I will freely send it to any reader on request.

Things Are

with significant implications for the future was a million-dollar contract to General Dynamics Corp. It calls for preliminary research on a space ship that will be propelled by controlled nuclear explosions.

Construction Gains

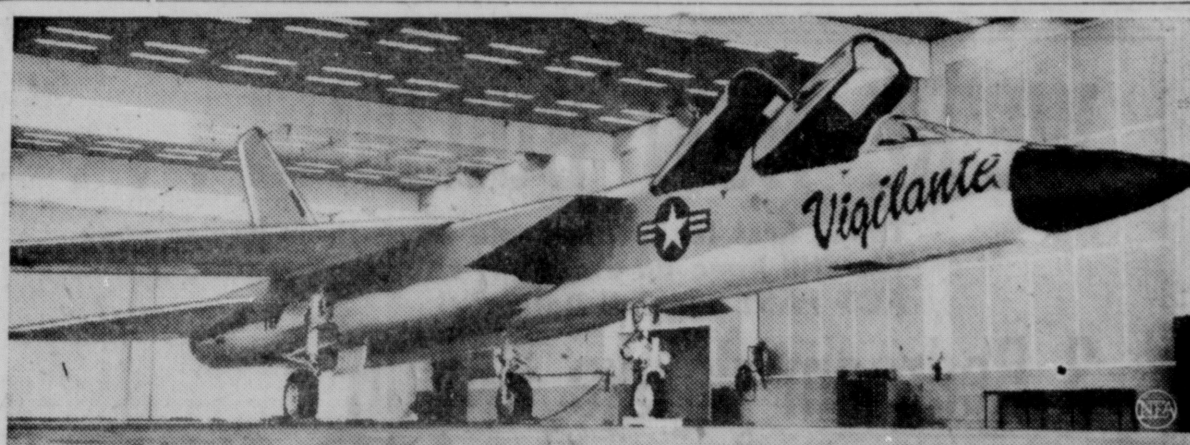

Construction is out of its recession phase. So says F. W. Dodge Corp. in announcing that construction contracts awarded in May added up to $3,402,575,000—highest ever recorded for a single month. New layoffs were the rule in many of the nation's steel mills and auto factories this week. The auto industry shut down nearly 60 per cent of its assembly plants, reducing car output to about 34,000 units.

Model changeovers will disrupt the auto production pattern for about two months.

Briefly over the business scene: The American Collectors Assn. says consumers are paying their debts less promptly now than earlier this year. It attributes the tardiness to unemployment. Business failures last week totaled 335, highest in more than a month. Western Union has asked federal authorities to approve an increase in telegraph rates Aug. 1. The New York Central says it will be compelled to halt passenger service into Manhattan's Grand Central terminal unless it gets tax relief. Charles S. Thomas, former secretary of the Navy, was named president of Trans World Airlines. Oasis Oil Co. — owned by the Ohio Oil Co. — reported a promising oil strike in Libya. The Housewares Manufacturers Assn. says yellow will be the most wanted color in kitchen utensils this fall. Pink ranks second and turquoise third.

Stock sales in the latest week numbered 10,426,724 shares compared with 13,334,120 in the previous week and 9,257,420 shares a year ago.

Bond sales had a par value of $19,154,000 in the latest week against $25,149,000 the previous week and $18,735,100 a year ago.

CARRIER-BASED PUNCH—This official U.S. Navy photograph gives a striking view of the fleet's new A3J-1, the "Vigilante," an all-weather, twin-jet capable of delivering nuclear weapons on difficult targets at supersonic speeds. Built by North American Aviation, Inc., the A3J is powered by two General Electric J79-2 jet engines which can attain more than 24,000 pounds of thrust.

AMERICANS IN FOREIGN HANDS—In three separate incidents in the month of June, a total of some 64 U.S. citizens were taken into custody in three foreign countries (see News-map above). Ransom for the eight officers and one sergeant held by E. Germany has been set tantamount to official U.S. recognition of the Communist puppet government. Cuban rebel kidnappings—of both U.S. servicemen and civilians—took place ostensibly as retaliation against claimed American aid to Cuban army planes at the U.S. Naval Base at Guantanamo Bay, on the south coast of rebel-infested Oriente Province. In the third incident, involving another forced landing of an American aircraft on foreign soil, Russia demands U.S. admission of "deliberate" border crossing and assurances to "prevent violations" in the future.

Rain May Cancel Saugerties Block Dance on Tonight

Forecast of showers this evening may cancel the Saugerties Youth Council community block party and dance scheduled outdoors at the tennis courts of Cantine Memorial Field.

In the event of rain, the dance will be held next Saturday at 8:30 p. m. on the courts.

The Mello-Tones, local teenage dance orchestra will provide the music for dancing.

A feature of the evening will be the shower of balloons to be released by Moira Rose Altevogt, Miss Saugerties of 1959. The balloons will contain dollar bills and a bundle of Saugerties Appreciation Day dollars good for merchandise in the stores of participating merchants.

The council plans to purchase games and other equipment for the canteens it conducts frequently for the teenagers of the community.

Six Mishaps

ted by John P. Murtagh, 19, of New Paltz.

Murtagh was arrested on Paulding's complaint and charged with passing a stop sign. Paulding's case was adjourned today in city court until Tuesday at 8 p. m.

Two Arrests

No injuries were reported by police in a one-car accident Friday at 9:10 p. m. at Broadway and Abel Street. Two arrests were made on traffic counts. Police reported a car, operated by Anna Marie Carpio, of Addison Street, East Kingston, owned by James F. Mooney, of 242 John Street, East Kingston, struck a steel bulkhead in the sidewalk near the Salvation Army building on lower Broadway.

The driver was issued a summons for driving without a license and Mooney for permitting an unlicensed operator to drive. Both summonses, issued by Officer Wilmont Hall, are returnable in City Court Tuesday at 8 p. m.

Robert S. Edmonds, of 39 Sycamore Street, was issued two summonses by Officers Edward Leonard and Richard Scherer for speeding on North Street, and driving on the wrong side of the street. Both summonses are returnable in city court Tuesday at 8 p. m.

Robert Harrell, 25, of 53 Van Buren Street, arrested on a third degree assault charge by Officer Frank Stip, was sentenced to 90 days in the Ulster County jail.

Suspend Sentence

Elbert H. Dederick, 44, of 132 Newkirk Avenue, arrested early today at police headquarters by Officers John Crespinio and Frank Monte on a disorderly conduct charge, received a 60-day suspended sentence and was placed on probation for six months.

A summons issued to Philip Roy Brown of 218 Catherine Street, for passing a red traffic light at the intersection of Cedar Street and Broadway, is returnable Tuesday at 8 p. m. in city court.

A burglary was discovered Friday at 3 a. m. at the Roosa Taxi Co., Inc., 525 Broadway, by Officer Garvin Fisher. He reported a soda machine had been entered and a desk and filing cabinet rifled. Approximately a dollar in dimes had been left in the soda machine coin box, it was reported.

The police report said it was believed the culprit became surprised during the process of the break. He was described by Officer Fisher as an unknown male about 5 feet 10 inches in height, of stocky build and wearing dark clothes.

A hammer and screwdriver were left at the scene on top of the soda machine, the officer reported, and entry was gained by ripping a hasp off the front door.

Attempted Burglary

An attempted burglary was reported Friday at 7:35 a. m. in a building owned by Roe Movers Kingston, Inc., 519 Broadway. Officers Harold DeGraff and William Whalen reported entry was gained by forcing a side door and a soda machine had been opened. The officers reported an attempt was made to pry open a cigarette machine.

A report Friday at 8:07 a. m. said a screen had been removed from the Zwick and Schwartz building, 36 O'Neil Street and the cigarette machine entered. A drawer also had been jimmied, it was reported.

The fire department also reported a quiet holiday with the exception of an alarm at 12:14 p. m., when it was reported the fire gong sounded at the Franklin Apartments, a three-story brick building at 753-755 Broadway, owned by Samuel and Cople Barnovitz.

Short Circuit in Iron

Firemen reported a short circuit in an electric iron cord in Apartment 16, occupied by Mrs. Warren Goldman.

They said the iron had been tossed down a refuse chute leading to an incinerator downstairs in the building and the falling iron apparently broke a fire detecting wire and caused the alarm to ring.

There was no fire, only the short circuit in the ironing cord, firemen said.

A one car accident near the Ulster-Greene County line sent Clyde Nelson, 47, of Wappingers Falls, to the Kingston Hospital with a concussion. The accident happened on the curve at the railroad overpass about 11 p. m. when the car owned by Geneva Nelson, Wappingers Falls, failed to make the turn. The operator was taken to the hospital by the H & S Ambulance Service.

Mishap Near Station

At 2:30 a. m. today Kingston state police investigated a one car accident about 100 yards from the station where a car owned by Cortland Van Etten of Lake Katrine, operated by his son, David Van Etten, 22, traveling north struck a utility pole putting power out for about two hours. The operator received severe lacerations which required some 50 stitches to close. He was treated at Kingston Hospital.

Friday evening about 7:50 o'clock Kingston state police investigated a two car accident on Leggett Road, Stone Ridge, where two cars were involved in an accident. A Ford station wagon owned by Harry Barieka, Inc., of Kingston and operated by Robert Barieka, 19, of 279 Lucas Avenue, and a car owned and operated by Irving Wheatcroft, 53, of Box 193-T, Saugerties, collided on the narrow road.

Injured was Miss Virginia Lee McCormick, High Falls, a passenger in the station wagon, and the operator Barieka, Miss McCormick was treated for concussion and Barieka was treated for an injured knee by Dr. Anthony Tocco of Stone Ridge. The station wagon was proceeding east on a down grade and the Wheatcroft car was proceeding west on a down grade when they struck head-on, state police reported. Both cars were towed from the scene.

Two cars were in collision on Route 52, Town of Wawarsing, Friday about 4:30 p. m. A sedan operated by Harry Bodin, 57, Brooklyn, was stopped on Route 52 to make a left turn. Tetta Danto, 20, Ellenville, proceeding east reported to state police she saw the car ahead without stop light or turning signal showing and realized too late that the car was standing still. The two cars collided. There was damage to the cars but no personal injuries.

Probe Drive in Break

The sheriff's office and state police are investigating a break-in at Johnny's Drive-In at Ulster Park. It was reported on Friday that the premises had been entered and considerable damage done. Sheriff Claude Bell assigned Deputies Sapp and Sehm to investigate and state police were also notified. It was reported machines, coin boxes, pony rides and other devices had been damaged.

Missing Mare Back

Warren Jacobus of Sawkill-Zena road reported Friday a brown mare was missing from the stable. The matter was reported to the sheriff's office. Later the horse, which had broken out of the stable during the night, was recovered.

Youth Program Is Approved by Board

The town board of the Town of Ulster has approved the youth summer program which starts Monday at Lake Katrine School.

This was announced today by Supervisor Alexander Banyo, who said the director will be George Fernandez of Hurley.

The program will consist of playground activities and games, swimming, music instructions and evening movies.

Director Fernandez said movies will start at the East Kingston School Monday at 7:45 p. m. Swimming is to start Tuesday at 1 p. m. at deWitt Lake.

A bus for swimmers will start from East Kingston, proceed to Neighborhood Road and thence to the Chambers School area the same as last year to pick up children.

Eugene Bannigan,

tion of his colleagues on both sides of the political aisle," said Gov. Harriman. Republican Oswald D. Heck, Assembly speaker, said: "I regarded him as a close friend whose word was his bond and whose levity eased the tensions of many sharp debates."

Funeral services will be at 10 a. m. Tuesday at the St. Francis of Assisi Church in Brooklyn.

In the Legislature, Bannigan organized the Democratic party's programs in the Republican-controlled Legislature. He was active in protecting New York City's interests when they conflicted with those of Upstate New York.

In Albany Since 1941
He had represented Brooklyn's 11th Assembly district since 1941 and had been minority leader since 1953.

Senate Majority Leader Walter J. Mahoney, Republican of Buffalo, said Bannigan was "a distinct credit to his constituency, his party and the state of New York."

Republican State Chairman L. Judson Mourshe said Bannigan was a "capable, vigorous minority leader" who "even in the heat of political strife was a great gentleman and delightful companion."

Perk Up Nursery In Spring Plans

Make your resolution for spring decorating include the youngster's nursery or that tiny corner of your room where she parks her booties. Little folk adore color, and there is nothing drearier than a child's room without it.

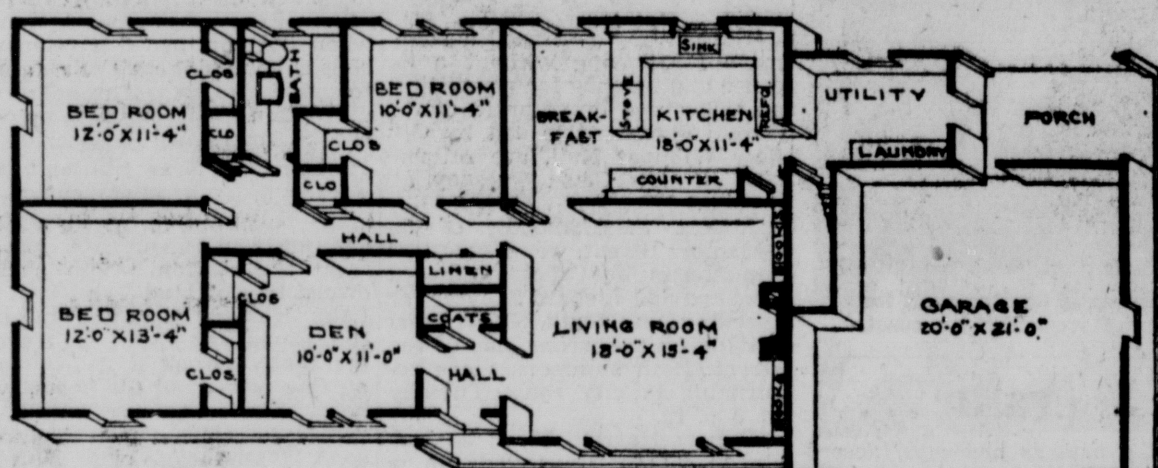

Hitch a mobile to your ceiling. It'll catch the eye of the tiniest youngster and charm the older tots, too. Choose a color that appeals to the age of the child.

Small fry are partial to bird mobiles that may be bought assembled. Or a handy mom can try her hand at making the bird mobile, using combinations of gay colors in old scraps of materials, felt, corduroy or what have you.

Flowers intrigue older children. Use artificial daisies, tulips or roses to make a gay, colorful ceiling decoration. Attach the flowers to wire, bringing the wires down from a central point, and then fasten the bouquet to the ceiling, like a chandelier.

One good decorating idea that is easy to do and ideal for play pen set admiration is a colorful mobile that may be made from the drawings of Mother Goose type characters to be found on cereal boxes.

There are tiger kittens, teddy bears, mother cow, bunnies and Mother Goose herself to be found on cereal boxes and these may be framed to hang on walls or strung together with colorful twine to make a little picture.

'The Berkley' Has Plenty Of Bedrooms

Rooms Eight
Bedrooms Four
Closets Nine

Cubage
House 26,800'
Garage 6,600'
Dimensions
House 50' x 28'
Overall 71'

The family looking for a modern, one-story home with plenty of bedroom space will especially like "The Berkley," today's offering from the Home of the Week Plan Service.

Presenting a thoroughly modern appearance — both inside and out — this modified ranch type home contains six rooms, including three regular bedrooms as well as a den which can serve as a fourth bedroom if you so desire. Careful interior planning makes this house as easy to care for as it is comfortable to live in.

Exterior Finish
Just about any type of exterior finish can be used on a home of this style. And, any type of setting would be equally as appropriate. The house proper measures 50 by 28 feet; overall dimensions are 71 feet. House cubage is 26,800 feet; garage cubage is 6,600 feet. You should have at least a 95-foot lot of land on which to build the house and attached garage-utility wing.

As attractive as it is spacious, the living room is designed to double as a dining room. You will probably find yourself serving many of your family's meals in the good-sized breakfast nook which actually is a separate room opening off the kitchen. By attractively decorating and furnishing this room, you can make it a pleasant eating place for all but the more formal meals. And, because it's so near to the kitchen, the lady of the house will find it especially convenient to serve as many meals as possible in this breakfast nook.

Kitchen Proper

The kitchen proper is definitely planned to be a work center. All appliances, work surfaces, and storage facilities are placed within easy reach to save unnecessary steps. Well lighted and ventilated the kitchen is a pleasant place in which to work, too.

Throughout this house there is an abundance of centrally located closet space. And the generous amount of windows assures each room of ample light and ventilation.

Opening off the kitchen and located in back of the garage is the large utility room where you can place your home laundry equipment. A door — leading to the back porch — provides ready access to the back yard.

Basement Area

Only the heating plant must be installed in the basement of the house; this should be located under the living room. Thus, you'll have plenty of basement area to do with as you wish.

Blueprints Available

Complete plans and specification for this house and all other "Home of the Week" designs are available at moderate cost. Address requests, mentioning name of home desired, to Home of the Week, Inc., Dept. KF, 87 Weybosset Street, Providence, R. I.

File Miniature Claw In Regular Hammer

The claw of your hammer is an effective tool for pulling large nails, but you've probably found that it won't pull tacks or brads so easily. The claw fingers are too far apart, and their edges aren't thin enough to grab securely under a small nail head. To make your hammer a brad puller, try filing a small, deep V-notch into the end of one claw finger. This will give the hammer a second, miniature claw whose thin edges will easily get under small nail heads.

Floor Squeaks

Loose bridging is one cause of floor squeaks. They should be renailed with the floor screw type of nail. Also, check to see if additional bridging is required.

Veterans' Rights, Benefits Listed

Howard C. Shurter, county director Veteran's Service Agency, and the NYS Division of Veterans Affairs, submits another in a series of articles on rights and benefits of veterans, servicemen and other dependents.

Tax Exemption—The recent amendment to the New York State tax law reported last week which provides that certain funds retained by the government to pay GI insurance premiums may be claimed by a veteran for tax exemption on real property which he subsequently purchases does not mean that all the premiums paid on GI insurance are tax exempt. There have been a number of inquiries which indicate that some veterans have interpreted this 1958 amendment to the tax law to mean that all the premiums which they have paid on their government insurance will count towards tax exemption. This is not the intention of the law. The amendment only provides that a veteran may use "eligible" monies retained by the government, such as GI insurance dividends which are used to pay premiums on GI insurance policies, in his claim for real property tax exemption if he invests an amount of money equivalent to that retained by the government in property which he later buys.

Civil Service—The Federal Veterans' Preference Act provision that federal agencies must give job retention rights to veterans regardless of their length of service has been declared unconstitutional by the federal courts. A denial of a claim by a lower federal court that the FVPA was unconstitutional was upheld by the U. S. Supreme Court when it recently refused to hear an appeal on the issue.

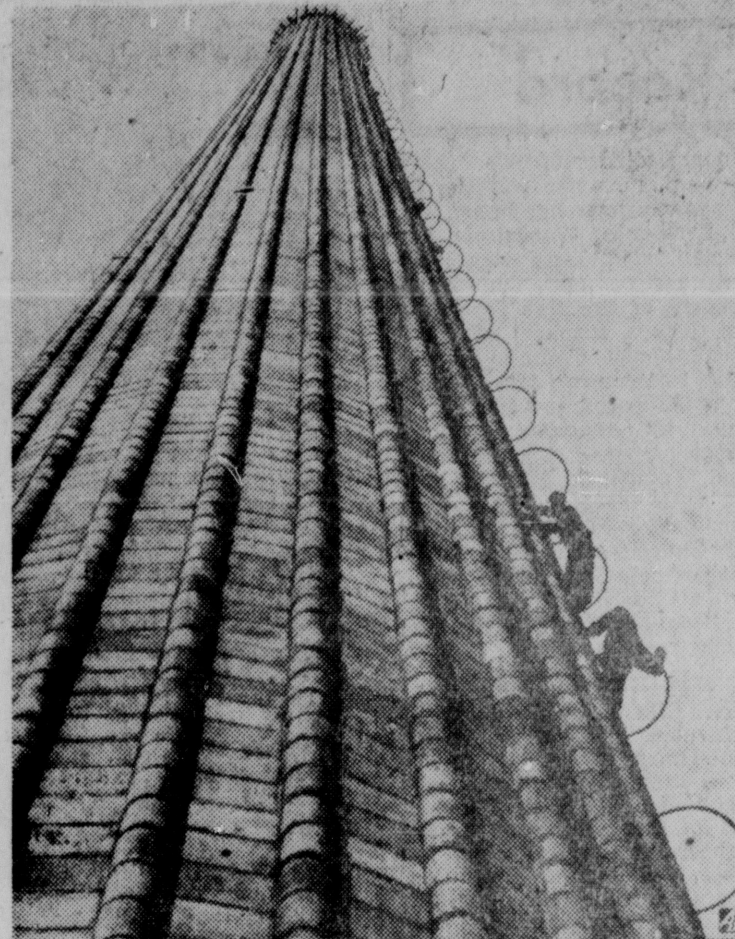

Legislation—The U. S. House of Representatives Veterans' Affairs Sub-Committee on Compensation and Pensions has reported ten bills to the full committee for consideration. Among the measures reported by the sub-committee are: a bill which would provide an increase in the statutory burial allowance to $250 from the current rate of $150; a bill which would provide for additional disability compensation for certain disabled female veterans with dependent husbands; and a bill providing for the presumption of a service-connected disability in cases of arthritis, psychoses or multiple sclerosis which develop to ten per cent or more in degree within three years after a veteran is separated from service.

Education—Veterans who win a New York State Regents War Service Scholarship, 1958 series, will be notified within 60 days of June 7, 1958, the date of the competitive examination for this state benefit if they have been awarded a scholarship. Winners must file an acceptance of the scholarship within 30 days. Scholarships are awarded effective July 1, 1958. They may be used for tuition and fees only. Payments are made only to institutions. Therefore, winners who attend a summer session in an approved school should notify the school so that it may collect for allowable benefits. A veteran may then request the school to reimburse him for allowable funds which he has expended.

Questions about the rights and benefits of veterans, servicemen or their dependents may be submitted for individual attention to the New York State Division of Veterans Affairs and the Ulster County Veterans Service Agency office located at 32 Main Street, Kingston.

Dry Anchor Line

Anchor lines should never be stowed away when wet. Let them dry on deck first.

LONG WAY TO WORK—Electricians make their way to top of tallest chimney in Czechoslovakia to complete lighting installations atop concrete works in Banska Bystrica.

Woven Fence Adds Pleasing Touch to Yard

Woven fencing can add a strikingly pleasing touch to your yard while at the same time provide privacy and shade.

Easy to erect, the woven fence offers several advantages, especially if it is constructed of hardboard panels cut into strips. In addition to the privacy feature, such a fence offers great variety. You can have any color desired, several types of hardboard can be used, the fence won't sag with age, it's easy to maintain, and it gives a yard a neat appearance.

Opportunities to express individuality are almost unlimited. It is easy to attain either complementary or contrasting effects with woven fencing. For instance, both a carport screen and fence could be constructed with horizontal strips of Masonite tempered preswood to form a flowing continuity in design. Or, the preswood strips could be applied vertically on the carport screen and horizontally on the fence.

A desirable effect can be created by interspersing strips of "peg-board" in the fence and carport screen. This provides variety within a pattern and also serves a utilitarian purpose. Such strips are ideal for hanging potted plants, garden equipment, tools, and many other items used in the yard.

Four-inch square posts should be used as the framework for a woven fence and carport screen. They can be spaced either four or eight feet apart. If these main posts are eight feet apart, 2" posts should be placed midway between each post and the hardboard strips woven about them. Hardboard panels 1/4-inch thick should be used for the fencing.

The strips should be fastened to the posts and spacers with 5d galvanized siding or box nails.

Mirror Protection

Use a dampened chamomile cloth to wash the front side of mirrors. It will prevent water getting on the back of the mirror and ruining the silver coating.

Scientists say the Hudson River runs 90 miles into the Atlantic Ocean in a great underwater canyon.

Formula Devised For Measurement

Wondering how to determine the square-foot area of your attic ceiling without hanging from the rafters with a tape measure?

Engineers simply take the square footage of the attic floor and multiply by one and a half. This will give you the approximate area of the sloping parts of the roof.

With this information the do-it-yourself can determine from his local lumber dealer the amount of insulating board products or gypsum board needed to convert an attic into a playroom or extra bedroom.

Watchout!

Don't let the kids or you take portable radios or TV's into the bathroom, for between them, the water and the plumbing it's possible to get a serious shock. Also keep the kitchen radio far enough away from the kitchen sink so that no one can turn the dial on the radio with one hand in the sink water or on the faucets.

What to Expect When Title
To a New Home Is Closed

By FAYE HENLE

You are buying a new home. The chances are this complex transaction will be routine to all involved except you—particularly if this is your first house.

You'll discover that both the contract closing and the title closing (usually a few weeks later) can drain emotions you never suspected you had. The only protection is to be prepared.

Before closing your purchase contract be absolutely certain that once the property is yours it will include all that you understand you are buying, such as shrubs, appliances, garden tools or furnishings. The contract should also indicate what repairs are to be made and should set a date for closing the title.

After the contract closing be sure the title to your property has been searched before the title closing. This may be done either by your attorney or the bank which is giving you your mortgage. This is vital, so that there can be no claims, past or present, on your new property. Generally, home buyers will do well to purchase title insurance. Probably your lawyer will insist on it.

Before the title closing you should provide for proper insurance coverage. At the very least be sure that an insurance binder is on your house by the time the closing has ended. You might investigate the possibility of taking over an existing insurance policy even though you might want to add some extended coverage.

Consider also whether you want mortgage insurance. Bring any old policies you have to the title closing, such as for other property or personal liability, to see whether all or part of your new coverage might be consolidated.

At the title closing your lawyer and the seller's attorney will apportion credit or debit for town, village and school taxes, mortgage and insurance payments. They may also make adjustments for heating oil left in the fuel tank. Before you take possession, of course, you will want to make sure that readings have been taken on the electric, gas and water meters.

There are so many variations on the theme of closing that it is important for you to have an attorney who practices in the area where you are settling. Let him be your guide.

When we asked our banker friends what they considered the most important consideration for a homeowner before closing, they unanimously underscored ability to meet the carrying charges. Make sure when you total them that they include the yearly cost of your mortgage—both interest and amortization—real estate taxes, heating, insurance, repair and maintenance costs.

You should give these items the same careful consideration you gave to the size and construction of your house plus its location with regard to school, church, shops, transportation and other daily living needs.

Unusual Decor

A large living room seen recently in a western city was done in a delightful monotone of pale greenish gray, carpets, walls and woodwork and most of the upholstery, all matching. A mixture of furniture had inspired the owner to use several chairs and small tables finished in Chinese red lacquer. The shade of paint used on the walls picked up the red in a delicate Chinese screen used as a divider.

SQUEEZE PLAY—During the rush hour in England, not only the passengers but some buses have a tight squeeze. This one, going through the West Gate into Canterbury, makes the camel's trip through the eye of the needle look almost easy.

CANADIAN TRANSPLANT — Totem pole, gift of British Columbia to Queen Elizabeth II to mark province's centenary, arrives at Windsor Great Park, England, for installation. The 100-foot pole was carved from single log cut from 600-year-old western red cedar tree.

Grow Grass First

Don't try to completely landscape a new home in one year. In the first year concentrate on developing a good stand of grass and tree planting. If you are planning a terrace, it is best to have it laid before extensive plantings of shrubs. Unless you are eager for plenty of outdoor work, don't plan intricate landscaping—it's not the installation, but the upkeep.

Keep Furniture Safe

Stretch a rubber band across children's toy autos or trucks. It will act as a bumper to prevent scratches on furniture legs and baseboards.

Roasting Meat
Although a temperature of 325 degrees is usually recommended for beef, 350 degrees is often recommended for fresh pork. Some good cooks like to rub both beef and pork roasts with seasoned flour before roasting.

ONE PORTION FOR TWO

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it proper when two people dine together in a restaurant where the portions served are very large, for only one person to order a dinner and divide it? I have a very small appetite and couldn't possibly eat a whole dinner and it would be a waste to order it and leave most of it uneaten.

Answer: You may ask your waiter to serve one portion for two. This is not an unusual request for vegetables, potatoes or salad, and in many restaurants that serve very large portions, they will serve even the entree for two.

Asking for an Invitation

Dear Mrs. Post: My fiancé received an invitation to the wedding of a friend of his. Although I have never met this friend, he knows that we are engaged. However, I was not sent an invitation. My fiancé has suggested calling his friend and asking if he might take me to the wedding. I do not think this the proper thing to do as it puts the person asked on the spot and he cannot say other than "yes." Will you please give me your opinion as to the correctness of this?

Answer: He may properly ask his friend if he will send you an invitation. He will then either send one to you or explain that the wedding is to be so small that he can invite no extra guests.

Thank-You Notes From Bereaved Family

Dear Mrs. Post: We are a family of four married children, sons and daughters both, and a father. We've recently lost our mother and as we received some hundred messages of sympathy as well as floral pieces, we'd like to know how to acknowledge them all so as to include everyone.

Answer: The one who is the most intimate friend of each donor should write the note of thanks. This "note" need be no more than the fewest words written on a visiting card. It is entirely proper that one of the sons or daughters write thanks for the father.

Mrs. Post lists each wedding anniversary, gifts and celebration in leaflet E-7, "Wedding Anniversaries." Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, c/o The Kingston Daily Freeman, P.O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

MRS. ROBERT J. MURRAY (Kollar photo)

Wedding Vows Exchanged by Couple in June At Huntington Church; New Paltz Graduates

Miss Emily Marie Krejci of New York City, became the bride of Robert J. Murray of Kingston and Babylon on June 22 at St. Patrick's Church, Huntington. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Murray of Kingston.

Officiating was the Rev. Father Reamey, pastor. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

For the wedding, Mrs. Murray wore a gown of Skinner taffeta fashioned with a rounded neck with reembodyered Alencon lace. Her bouffant skirt in princess lines terminated in a chapel train. A crown of orange blossoms and pearl flowers held a fingertip veil of French illusion. The bride carried a crescent shaped bouquet of stephanotis.

The bride is a graduate of the College of Wooster, Wooster, Ohio where he received the BA in 1956. She is on the faculty of the Hill School in Huntington and expects to receive her MS from New Paltz State Teachers College in 1959.

The bridegroom, who was a sergeant with the U. S. Air Force, is an alumnus of New Paltz State Teachers College. He is on the teaching staff of the John Street School, Franklin Square.

A dinner was given at Lazar's Continental Restaurant in Centerport following the ceremony.

The couple will make their home in Babylon when they return from a wedding trip to Cape Cod.

Attendants included Joann Mielke of Detroit, Mich., maid of honor; Barbara Paganini, Jamaica; Mrs. John Page, Farmingdale; and Carolyn Anne Krejci who was junior bridesmaid. Their gowns were in white with different colored cummerbunds. Matching picture hats with open crowns were also worn. The attendants carried garden baskets with daisies and ivy. The daisies were dyed to match each cummerbund.

Best man was Donald Murray of Ardsley, the bridegroom's brother. Ushers included William Paganini, Wallace Fiori.

Bard Will Test New Pilot Project

Announcement of an academic Pilot Project to be put into effect next September and designed to test salient features of a radically new attack on higher education's most pressing problems was made today by James H. Case Jr., president of Bard College.

If the test is considered successful by the Bard faculty and if various practical and technical difficulties can be overcome, the new program will be adopted next May for inauguration in September 1960. The Pilot Project is financed by a grant from the fund for the advancement of education.

Enrollment to Double
American educators, foundations and the general public are anxiously aware that the college population appears certain to double in the coming 10 or 12 years. They are also aware that the supply of qualified teachers cannot possibly be doubled in so short a time, and that the cost of doubling the physical facilities of our colleges and universities in a decade would be virtually prohibitive.

Experimentation to find academically sound ways of using both teaching resources and physical facilities more economically has been urged by the Ford Foundation, the President's Committee on Education Beyond the High School and, most recently, the special report on education presented by the Rockefeller Brothers Fund Inc.

The experimental program on which Bard College has been working intensively for months and toward which the Pilot Project is a tentative step is known as the Bard Four-Quarter System. It would have the following effects:

1) Keep the College plant in operation 12 months a year;
2) Permit the College to accommodate about twice as many resident students as its facilities would otherwise allow;
3) Increase the number of students taught by each faculty member by one-third without materially altering the system of seminars, tutorials and individual conference courses that has distinguished the Bard program for the last quarter of a century;

4) Permit able students to complete their college requirements in three years instead of four; and
5) Require independent academic work while students are not in residence.

Not New

So far as the division of the academic calendar into quarters instead of semesters is concerned, there is nothing either new or experimental, President Case said, pointing to the scores of prominent institutions in the Middle West that use such an arrangement.

False-Card Less Than Brilliant

BY OSWALD JACOBY

Written for NEA Service

Hard Luck Joe won East's nine of spades with the ace and led the queen of clubs for a finesse. The finesse lost to East's king and East promptly shot back the deuce of hearts. West's queen knocked out dummy's king and Joe tried the diamond finesse. West took his king and a heart return enabled East to set the contract with three heart tricks.

"There I go again," said Joe. "Two finesse wrong and brilliant defense was necessary to beat me this time."

"Well, you gave the defense all the help you could," said North. "You should have won the first spade lead with the king, not the ace."

"What difference did it make?" asked Joe.

"A lot," replied North. "Your silly false-card marked you with ace-king of spades and warned East that there was no future in the spade suit. If you had won with the king, East could not have located the ace since may-

Saugerties Shades Poughkeepsie, 3-2 Behind Clark Mains

Martin's Hit Decides Fray, Yasinski Loses

A two-run seventh inning highlighted by Joe Martin's single gave the Saugerties Dutchmen a 3-2 win over Poughkeepsie and Ed Yasinski in the New York-New Jersey League before a large holiday crowd yesterday at Cantine Field.

The Dutchmen broke out of a two-game losing streak with some airtight pitching from the veteran Clark Mains who out-tossed the former Eastern League flinger.

Mains was especially tough with runners on base. In the fifth when the Bakers scored their only runs, the bespectacled tosser could have gotten out of the jam with a much lighter penalty on some sharper fielding.

A late throw to the plate accounted for one of the tallies while a wide heave on an attempted squeeze kept the Bridge City squad in the thick of the fight before Mains quelled the uprising.

The Dutchmen scored first in the second after Bill Straub had opened with a walk. Martin moved him a notch with a neat sacrifice. Then Mormile sent his high school coach home with a single through the left side of the infield.

Hubie Barber started things rolling in the big seventh with a shot down the left field line. Boo Schaffer then followed with a smash up the right center alley as Barber wheeled all the way around. Martin then sent Schaffer home with what proved to be the clincher.

Wellsville Girl Scores in Title Track, Field Meet

MORRISTOWN, N. J. (AP)—Cynthia Wyatt, 14, a high school sophomore from Wellsville, N. Y., was a big winner Friday in the National Girls Track and Field Championships.

She won the discus with a 111-foot, 3-inch toss and the shot put with a heave of 39 feet 3½ inches. She hurled the javelin 99 feet 10½ inches and finished fifth.

Cynthia's showing was second only to that of Anetta Anderson, 17, of Murfreesboro, Tenn., who won gold medals in the 75 and 100-yard dashes and then ran the anchor leg on the winning 300-yard relay team.

The Chicago Comets won the team title.

Bowdry TKO's Luedee in 8th For 23rd Win

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Jesse Bowdry, on the road to a unanimous decision, ended his scheduled 10-round light-heavyweight fight with Jerry Luedee Friday night with a technical knockout in the eighth round.

Bowdry, a 19-year-old St. Louis product, had carded a perfect 35 points through the seventh from both judges and the referee. Luedee's card showed 30-30-29.

Being knocked out was a new experience for Luedee, 24, who now has a 23-8-1 record.

Bowdry went after his 23rd victory with a head-and-body attack in the first round. After the opening salvo, he settled into a body attack that showed marked effects after the sixth.

Meanwhile, Luedee's punches took effect only in the second and third when he visibly hurt his opponent. But he ran out of gas too soon.

It was Bowdry's 19th knockout during his career in which he has lost but two fights.

Luedee, of New Haven, Conn., entered the ring at 168 pounds while his opponent weighed in at 174.

Johnson Wants National Title

PALMYRA, N. J. (AP)—Rafer Johnson, who currently is engaged in an unwilling battle with Russia's Vassili Kuznetsov, said today that he's not worrying about breaking world decathlon records.

"Right now," he said, "I'm interested only in winning the national championship. If I happen to break the world record along with it, that's fine. But I'm certainly not worrying about it."

No matter how Johnson feels, the fact remains that he's right in the middle of the cold athletic war between the U. S. and Russia.

Here's why: A towering, soft-spoken lad who is president of UCLA's student body, holds the listed world decathlon record with 7,985 points. But Kuznetsov piled up 8,016 points in a Russian meet a couple of months ago.

If Johnson doesn't top that mark today, it probably will be accepted as a world record when the International Amateur Athletic Federation meets to act on record applications next month.

Johnson finished leading the pack with 4,450 points Friday.

Rafer was No. 1 man in the 100-meter dash (10.6) the shot put (50-2½) and the 400 meters (48.3). Two of his strongest events, the discus and javelin were on tap today, along with 110-meter hurdles, the pole vault and the 1,500 meters.

Thomson Slight Favorite in 36-Hole Playoff

ST. ANNE'S-ON-SEA, England (AP) — The British open was a promoter's delight today—a Saturday playoff with a local in the cast.

Dave Thomas, the 23-year-old Wales lad who never has won a senior event, met Australia's Peter Thomson, an international citizen of golf who has toured the world eight times.

They play their 36-hole medal play battle at Royal Lytham and St. Anne's championship links, a half mile from the Irish sea.

Crowds topping the 20,000 mark were expected.

Thomson, only 28, and one of the most experienced players in golf, is expected to win. He has spent six years in American tournament play and he gives that experience much credit for putting his game in order. He has won money along the way but seldom takes top prizes.

Thomas and Thomson forced the playoff late Friday when each alternated playing brilliant golf and doing silly things.

Thomson started the final round with a two-stroke lead. In their final 18, which was a classic as a nerve-wracker, Thomas was good while Thomson was bad. And Thomas was bad when Thomson was good. Thomson's lead withered away, he got it back, lost it and they finally wound up all even with 278 strokes each. Each broke the all-time open scoring mark—but neither was a winner.

York First Half Winner in E. L.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
York appears a shoo-in for the first-half title of the Eastern League's southern division today even though its doubleheader with Binghamton was postponed Friday because of rain.

One of the White Roses' rivals was eliminated and the other barely held on.

Eliminated were the Lancaster Red Roses, who lost a 9-7 decision to Albany.

The loss put Lancaster four games out with the first half of the season to end Sunday.

Reading hung on as a contender by splitting a twin bill with Williamsport.

Pitcher Carl Mathias scattered nine hits to give Reading the opener 11-3. Williamsport came back in the nightcap to win 5-4 on Bob Hunt's eleventh inning single.

Reading, trailing by 2½ games, now has two tilts left before the first half ends. York has four.

In other action, Springfield buried Allentown deeper in the southern division cellar by taking a twin bill 4-3, 11-1.

Teams Advance in Baseball Play

JOHNSTOWN, N. Y. (AP)—DeWitt and Schenectady teams had reached the second round today in the state semi-pro baseball tournament.

Sherman Park A. C. of DeWitt eliminated a three-time champion, the Fulton County Glovers, 6-1, and Kral's of Schenectady tripped the Albany Roxys, 6-4, in first round games Friday.

Twelve teams were entered in the single-elimination tournament.

De Joy's Assn. of Staten Island met the North Tonaawanda Warriors and the Westbury Club faced the Valley Merchants of Syracuse today.

In Sunday's games, the Flushing Hawks go against the Manhattan Braves and the Mattdale Cardinals take on the Amsterdam Browns.

Bobby Boyd, Chicago middleweight boxer, was first taught boxing by his cousin, Ernest Wilson, a former amateur fighter.

Braves Slump Rattles Haney, Plans no Shakeup

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Since 1901, 58 per cent of the National League teams in first place on July 4 have gone on to win the pennant.

But right now those odds don't look favorable enough to Manager Fred Haney of the front-running Milwaukee Braves.

The reason is that the worst hitting slump of the season has fastened itself onto the world champions, limiting them to only 3 runs in their last 5 games, 4 of which they've lost in a row.

"We had slumps last year," Haney observed, "but I don't think we ever looked that bad. We dropped five straight on our last road trip, but at least we scored some runs."

The Philadelphia Phillies, making their move a little earlier this season than last when they won 12 of their first 14 games in July and held first place for a time, swept Friday's holiday doubleheader from the Braves 5-1 and 4-0. They now have won five in a row — their longest winning skein of the campaign.

The Braves now lead second place St. Louis by only 1½ games. San Francisco is third, 2 games behind, and Philadelphia and Cincinnati are tied for fourth 3½ back.

"It's one of those things," said Haney. "Maybe when we finally break loose we'll be gone for good. If we hope to break this race wide open, we've got to start hitting soon. I hope we don't have to go down to the wire — I want to pull away. The sooner, the better."

Haney declined to pick the one club he thought had the best chance to overhaul the Braves, and he said he does not plan a wholesale shakeup of his club.

Who's It Going To Be in National

NEW YORK (AP) — Not since 1955, when the Brooklyn Dodgers did it, has the July 4 leader gone on to win the National League pennant. In 1956 and again last season, the team that was third on Independence Day took the flag.

In 1956, the Dodgers trailed first place Milwaukee and second place Cincinnati, who were in a virtual tie for the lead, by a half game, then won by one over the Braves, with the Redlegs third.

Last year, Cincinnati led St. Louis by a half-game on July 4. The Braves, who went on to win the World Series, were third, also a half-game back.

The San Francisco Giants are third at the moment, two games behind the first place Braves.

O'Brien Hanover Captures Rich Messenger Stake

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Jimmy Jordan, who drove O'Brien Hanover to victory in the $108,565 Messenger Stakes at Roosevelt Raceway Friday night, said he merely followed instructions.

"Del Miller told me to drive my own race, and that's just what I did," said the 53-year-old reinsman. Miller is the trainer of O'Brien Hanover.

O'Brien Hanover took the lead about an eighth of a mile after the start of the one mile dash, and won by three quarters of a length from Flying Time.

Thorpe Hanover, who like O'Brien Hanover is owned by Hugh Grant of Bradford, Pa., was third, another three-quarters of a length behind.

O'Brien Hanover was closed in 2:01 4-5, just two-fifths slower than the track record, and the entry paid $3.90 for $2. First place was worth $54,282.76, and with third money Thorpe Hanover grabbed, grant wound up with $67,310.62.

Miss Gibson teams with Kurt Nielsen of Denmark against Bob Howe and Lorraine Coghlan of Australia for the mixed doubles championship.

Australia's Ashley Cooper captured the men's singles title Friday with a 3-6, 6-3, 6-4, 13-11 victory over Neale Fraser, a fellow Aussie with whom he travels the tennis circuit.

It was the 12th time the two players have met in major tournaments with Cooper winning nine times.

Rory Calhoun, Atlanta middleweight boxer, formerly worked as a pin boy, construction worker, dishwasher and janitor.

Yesterday's Stars

Pitching — Jack Sanford, Phillies, blanked the Braves on five hits, 4-0, as Phillies extended their longest winning streak of the season to five games after winning the opener 5-1.

Hitting — Bob Cerv, Athletics, out of line-up because of injuries, but delivered pinch-hit, two-run homer, his 22nd, that hauled A's from behind for first-game victory in 6-5, 4-3 sweep against White Sox.

Biggest Half-Way Mark Lead Since '39 Team

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Some Independence Day in the American League! Those overlord New York Yankees lead by 10 1/2 games — and no club has had a bigger July 4 bulge since guess who led by 11 1/2 in 1939.

The Yankees, sweeping the three-game set and winning their fourth straight game, twice cracked the last place Senators at Washington.

Bob Turley won his 12th with a three-hitter in the 2-1 opener, and Art Ditmar, pitching his first complete game for the Yankees, won the nightcap with a four-hitter 13-2.

KC Wins Pair

Second place Kansas City swiped two at Chicago, beating the White Sox 6-5 and 4-3. Boston and Baltimore split, the Red Sox winning 5-1, the Orioles 5-3. Cleveland dropped Detroit 6-1, but the Tigers took the nightcap 3-1.

Post 22 Hits

Turley gave up two singles and walked a run across before he got a man out, then allowed only a fifth-inning single to Roy Sievers. The loser was Pete Ramos (6-6). In the nightcap, the Yankees slugged 22 hits—a one-game high in the AL for the season. Norm Siebern and Bill Skowron also homered for the Yankees with Siebern, who was 4-for-5, belting his seventh with a man on in a wrapup, six-run sixth.

Truman Cleverger (4-8) was the loser for the Nats, now 19 games behind with only four victories in their last 22 games.

The A's, trailing 5-0, chased Early Wynn and handed veteran reliever Turk Lown his first AL defeat. The winner was Tom Gorman (2-3).

Harry Simpson and Bill Tuttle homered the A's into a 3-0 lead in the nightcap and Pete Daley won his first — with Tomanek's second perfect relief job of the day. Ray Moore (5-3) lost it.

Martin's Homer Wins

Larry Doby was 4-for-4 and drove in four runs, three with a first-inning homer off loser Paul Foytack (6-8) while Cal McLish won his fifth for the Indians. Herm Wehmeier, whose arm trouble made his purchase from St. Louis a conditional deal, won his first with a six-hit, eight-inning game for Detroit in the nightcap, won on Billy Martin's solo home run off loser Jim Grant (6-6) in the seventh.

Sammy White's bases-loaded triple capped a four-run sixth in the opener for the Red Sox as Frank Sullivan won his sixth with a five-hitter. Connie Johnson lost it in relief of Milt Pappas. In the nightcap, Arnie Portocarrero (6-5) won it with Mike Fornieles (3-5) the loser.

DiBella, Miller Top Mixed League

Fred Di Bella and Amy Miller led their respective divisions in the Ferraro Summer Mixed League.

DiBella sizzled in his opening game with a 2-4 and followed with efforts of 166 and 182 for a 592 series, while Mrs. Miller slammed games of 233, 144 and 155 for a 532.

L. A. in Last Trails by 7 1/2; Braves Drop 2

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

No doubt about it. This is the closest National League race of modern time.

When the Philadelphia Phillies, suddenly on a come-alive drive, swept Friday's double-header at Milwaukee 5-1 and 4-1, not only was the Braves' first place margin cut to 1 1/2 games, but last place Los Angeles moved within seven games of the top.

San Francisco blew a chance to regain second place from idle St. Louis, losing the second game to Chicago 6-1 after a five-run rally in the ninth had beaten the Cubs 6-5 in the opener. The Phillies, a straggling seventh through June, gained a share of fourth place, 3 1/2 games behind Milwaukee, with the Cincinnati Redlegs, who swept Pittsburgh 4-3 and 8-3.

The Cardinals and Dodgers were idle, because of a previous booking in the Coliseum at Los Angeles.

Phils Take 2

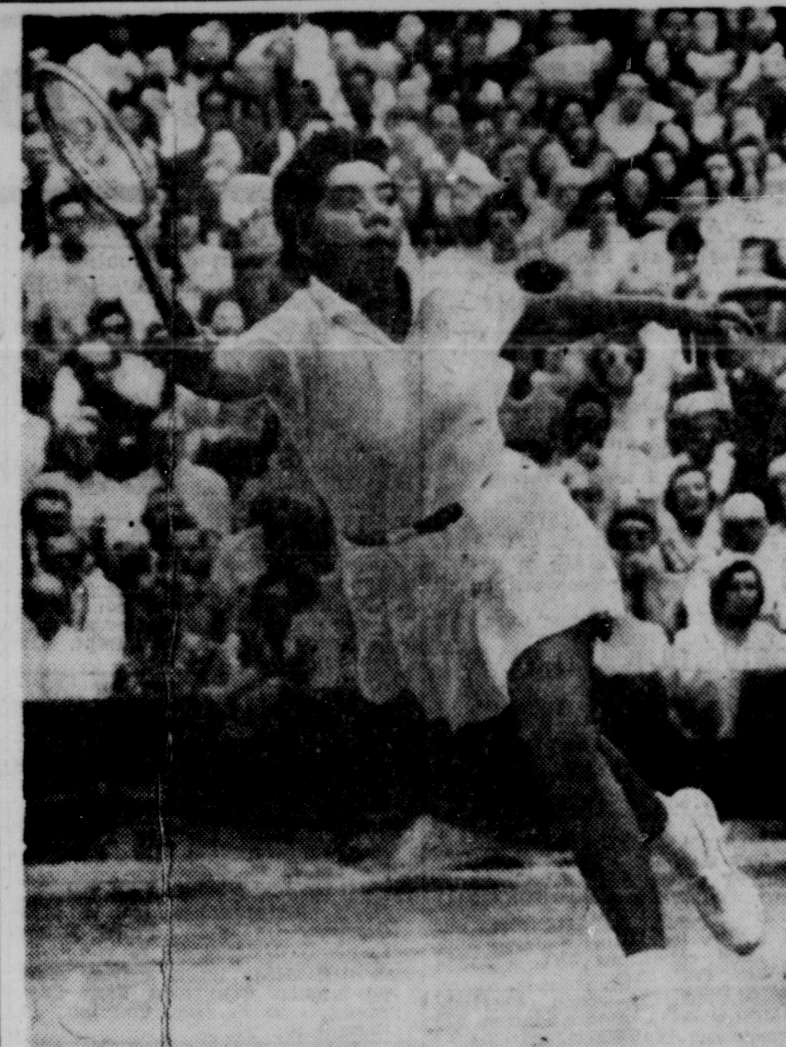

A crowd of 23,706, largest of the day, saw right-hander Jack Sanford (6-6) blank the Braves on five hits while handing 10-game winner Warren Spahn his fifth defeat.

The Giants, shut out for six innings by Johnny Briggs, capped their winning ninth in the opener on a two-run single by Willie Mays. The Cubs chased Johnny Antonelli in the nightcap first with three runs that handed the south-paw ace an 8-7 record. Dave Hillman won his first with a five-hitter.

Kline Beaten

The Redlegs, scoring just one run in 32 innings, went to work on a 3-0 Pirate lead with Ed Bailey's two-run homer in the third inning of the opener. The loser was Ron Kline (7-9). Kansas City castoff Alex Kellner won his first in the N.L., blanking the Cubs on four hits after relieving Don Newcombe in the third.

Vern Law (7-6) was the loser, while Bob Purkey won his ninth.

Art Wall's One Stroke Leads Rubber City Open

By FRITZ HOWELL

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—The utter contempt golfdom's professionals are showing for par in the Rubber City Open has convinced one of the most gallant campaigners of them all—ailing-armed Ed Furgol—that the time has come for him to quit the tournament trail.

As the 60 play-for-pay survivors swung today into the third round of the $22,000 tourney, 45 were under par. The field was 159 strokes under par.

Pacing the 10 remaining amateurs was 18-year-old Jack Nicklaus of Columbus, Ohio, with a 13 total, nine strokes below regulation for Firestone Country Club's well-trapped and tree-dotted 6,820 yards.

Wall Leads

Art Wall Jr. from Pocono Manor, Pa., was out front with rounds of 65-67-132. That's 10 under par, but it gave him only a stroke edge over Nicklaus, recent Trans-Mississippi winner; National Open king Tommy Bolt, Al Baldin of Canada, and Frank Phillips, Australian champion from Sydney.

Furgol May Quit

Furgol was 12 strokes off the pace, barely evading the cut-off with a pair of 72s, two of his better rounds in this year. As he watched the low scores being posted, Ed grinned and said: "These guys are always putting for birdies, while I'm putting for pars. I guess the time has come for me to quit the tour, get a good club job and settle down."

Furgol, now 41, won the 1954 National Open despite the handicap of a rigid left elbow and a left arm six inches shorter than the right. As a result of his handicap he had a loop in the top of his swing and a dip in his knees as he hit the ball but he was one of the most feared and best-liked competitors on the tour.

No More Zing

Then his right arm—he calls it his pitching arm—also went bad. An operation was performed 11 weeks ago to remove several bone chips and some calcium from the elbow. It doesn't hurt anymore, Furgol said, but he continued: "I'm like a pitcher with a sore arm. I've lost my fast ball. I'm hitting just as I always did but nothing happens. There's no 'zing' anymore."

Georgia Tech football coach Bobby Dodd earned nine letters at Tennessee. He got three for football, three for basketball, two for baseball and one for track.

Denver, Colo., has been awarded the 1960 Woman's International Bowling Congress. The 1959 WIBC will begin April 16 in Buffalo, N. Y.

Crowds Off In Majors

Attendance was down about 34 per cent from last year for the July 4 doubleheaders in major league baseball.

The American League drew 76,645 for four twinbills and the National League counted 62,420 for three doubleheaders for a grand total of 139,065. Last year, when both leagues presented three doubleheaders and a single game, the American drew 110,785 and the National 100,521 for a total of 211,306.

That's a decrease of 34,140 in the American and 38,101 in the National.

Tables Reversed By Montreal in Holiday IL Bill

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

What a difference a year can make!

A year ago July 4th the Montreal Royals played the Buffalo Bisons in a doubleheader. The Bisons were in second place and the Royals were in the basement 13 lengths behind. The Bisons thrilled the home folks by sweeping the double bill 4-3 and 7-4.

It seems the Royals did not forget.

This time the positions were reversed. The high flying Montreal nine led the league by 3 1/2 games with the Bisons resting in the cellar 17 1/2 games behind.

The Canadians showed no mercy as they swept the doubleheader Friday 8-7 and 7-2.

The Miami Marlins swept their holiday twin bill from the Richmond Virginians 3-4 and 3-2 and the Havana Sugar Kings won the afterpiece from the Columbus Jets 3-2 in 10 innings after losing the opener 2-1. The Toronto-Rochester doubleheader was postponed.

Today's Schedule

Buffalo at Rochester, 7:30 p. m.
Toronto at Montreal, 8 p. m.
Havana at Richmond, 8:45 p. m.
Miami at Columbus, 9 p. m.

Relief pitcher Herb Moford of the Detroit Tigers pitched 24 innings in 14 games for the 1955 St. Louis Cardinals. He had a 1-1 record.

8,000 See Canny Scot Win at Monticello Oval

There is an optimistic expression on the faces of Monticello Raceway share holders today after the turnstiles clicked off 8,000 patrons last night for the biggest crowd of the current racing season.

Despite the large turnout, the crowd failed to surpass the opening night mutual handle of $251,000, an indication that most of the people on hand were curious and not bettors. The handle was $222,405.

The future, nevertheless is bright for the beautiful new oval, although it is doubtful if any betting records will be established. As one New Yorker making his first trip there commented "they'll draw people, but they won't bet."

At any rate, the throng saw Canny Scot, the betting favorite, take the $6,000 Middletown Open Pace in 2:04.1. The classy pacer was reigned by Vernon Dancer and fought off a stretch drive by H. A. Direct with Sonny Dancer in the sulky.

The combination of 6-2 in the Daily Double returned $12.90.

Lost Colony

Like North Carolina, Greenland has a "Lost Colony" mystery. A Norse settlement, established in the late 10th century, vanished 500 years later when supply ships from home failed to call.

Scattered thunderstorms and showers spiced the nation's predominantly hot, sultry weather picture today.

A blanket of high humidity wrapped up an area extending from the Plains eastward through the Ohio Valley and Gulf states to the Atlantic seaboard.

Patches of rain, promoted by afternoon and evening thunderstorms, were expected to dampen the atmosphere in that broad area.

Some shower activity also was on tap for the northern tier of states from the Dakotas through the Great Lakes to New England.

A tornado was sighted south of Garden City in southwestern Kansas Friday night. Heavy rain pounded isolated parts of the Southern Plains Friday night. Clashing cold and warm air masses sparked thunderstorms that dumped heavy overnight rains in western Kansas and northern Oklahoma.

Further north, widespread rain dotted the mid-Mississippi Valley and upper Great Lakes.

Goldfine Appears

I've been treated very fairly."

Goldfine balked Thursday at giving the House investigators any information about the uncashed checks. He said that wasn't pertinent to the subcommittee's investigation. He held to that stand despite the group's insistence that it—not he—should determine what was pertinent.

The subcommittee, in a general investigation of the work of federal regulatory agencies, is currently checking charges that Goldfine received favored treatment because of his friendship with presidential aide Sherman Adams. Both Adams and Goldfine have denied the favored treatment charge, although Adams has told of receiving expensive favors from Goldfine.

The House investigators also put into the record a list of 33 persons they said had received checks from Goldfine. The 33 were described as present or former employees in congressional and White House offices.

Receipt of checks of from $35 to $75 at Christmas were acknowledged by two present White House secretaries and by some present and former employees of Sen. Styles Bridges (R-NH) and Rep. John W. McCormack (D-Mass). Others denied receiving cash. None of those contacted said the gifts involved favors for Goldfine.

Goldfine himself dismissed the checks as minor Christmas presents, and indicated Friday he plans to continue the practice.

"I expect to continue giving gifts," he told newsmen who asked.

May Check McCrory

In New York, Tex McCrory said he is no longer working with Goldfine as a public relations consultant. He stressed that the work he had done had been without pay or expenses. He said he stepped in to help out his friend, Roger Robb, of Goldfine's legal staff.

Several subcommittee members had questioned McCrory's connection with the matter, and indicated they might look further into it. McCrory said he is willing to tell the subcommittee all he knows if they call him, but added "I can't imagine they would want to."

Robb said, meanwhile, he knows nothing about reports that the telephone of subcommittee Chairman Oren Harris (D-Ark) may have been tapped and that investigators are checking in Harris' home district, perhaps in an effort to discredit the chairman.

But if Harris is being investigated, Robb said, "I don't know a thing about it." He said he does not operate in that fashion.

This was the third crash this year involving the huge craft, which can carry 25 tons of cargo or 222 fully equipped men.

The first occurred June 3 at Travis AFB. The second was a collision in the air with a C119 over Bridgeport, Tex., on March 28. The two crashes claimed a total of 20 lives.

The Saugerties Girls' Club did not leave empty handed. They received a trophy for entering the best junior marching unit. C. A. Lynch Fire Company of Saugerties won the senior marching unit trophy.

Others Impress Throng

Other floats that impressed the crowds at various intersections included one entered by the Auxiliary of Saugerties Memorial Post 5034, VFW. In previous years the VFW Auxiliary has won top awards in the annual Independence Day parade.

The Saugerties Lions Club float presented their huge gold lion surrounded by Little League players.

The float of last year's winner, St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church, West Camp, was withdrawn two days before the parade.

The Saugerties Area Chamber of Commerce float, not in competition, presented the newly selected Miss Saugerties of 1959—Moira Rose Altevogt surrounded by her attendants, Susan Harris and Judith Kanski, and some of the finalists, Elaine Scheffel, Margaret Brenning and Barbara Voigt, Miss Congeniality.

The float had a guard of honor in individual open cars of Kay Moose, Miss Saugerties of 1957 and Crystal Jobst, Miss Saugerties of 1955. Lauretta Tierney, Miss Saugerties of 1956 was out of town and could not appear.

Winners Named at Field

The presentation of awards to the float winners was made in the evening at Cantine Memorial Field by Miss Altevogt, prior to the giant fireworks display. She was introduced from the WSKN mobile unit on the field used for a stage. William Hoffer, president of Saugerties Junior Chamber of Commerce, sponsors of the all-day celebration, made the introductions.

Miriam Sanderson, Miss New York State, and grand marshal of the parade, made a feature award presentation to Charles Fous of West Saugerties who has the choice of a $1,000 Savings Bond or a $1,000 motorboat. John Lynker, president of Skylark Corporation, operators of WSKN served as master of ceremonies.

Intermittent light showers prevailed throughout the day but did not cause too much concern to parade officials until the last division had passed the reviewing stand on Main Street.

Showers became heavier, but let up in a few minutes.

At 3:30 p. m. Miss Saugerties tossed out the first ball for the New York-New Jersey game between the Saugerties Dutchmen and Poughkeepsie Bakers which Saugerties won 3 to 2. The game was played at Cantine Memorial Field.

The Ulster Mike and Key Club provided communications and kept the parade moving and evenly spaced. Five mobile units and a filter center were on duty during the parade.

Guard Is Represented

A full division of the 156th Field Artillery Battalion, New York National Guard made an impressive showing in the parade.

Parade judges included Mr. and Mrs. John Burlingham of Woodstock; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Jones of Hurley and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Cooper of Kingston.

Drum and bugle corps participating in the eight divisions included Father Hart's Drum Corps; Saugerties Drum Corps; Colonial Cadets Jr. Drum Corps; Catskill Boys Club Drum Corps; Boy Scout Troop 12 Drum Corps; the Ghent Band; Tivoli Drum Corps, and the American Legion Junior Drum Corps of Coxsack.

Town of Esopus 'Wild Dog' Hunt Proves Unavailing

The hunt in the Town of Esopus Friday for a pack of "wild dogs" which reportedly killed nearly 40 sheep on the farm of Donald Evans in the past two months was unavailing, according to Supervisor Roger W. Mabie.

Supervisor Mabie told The Freeman today that about 27 men of the West Esopus Landowner's Association and the Town of Esopus Sportsmen's Club conducted a search in the general area of the sheep farm but could find no trace of any of the dogs or signs that they had been in the area.

Sheep killings by some unknown animal or animals had been reported to the authorities on April 20 and June 28, and at the time it was claimed that a pack of "wild dogs" had raided the farm and killed nearly 40 sheep at the Evans' farm.

To avoid destruction of household pets, the public was alerted to keep all dogs tied up from 12:01 a. m. to noon yesterday.

Supervisor Mabie said that no further action was planned at the moment. The hunters stalked the area most of the morning from 4:30 a. m. but found no dogs.

submarines, but that apparently is as far as secret-sharing plans go at present.

At his first meeting with a top American official since becoming premier June 1, De Gaulle also was expected to discuss relations with Moscow, Western defense, the Middle East and possibly the Algerian situation.

Dulles said he would not bring up Algeria but he regards the costly 44-month nationalist rebellion against French rule there as a key to French economic and political troubles.

Dulles flew into Paris Friday and spent the evening in briefings by American experts.

After meeting with De Gaulle, Dulles was scheduled to talk with Foreign Minister Courve de Murville, a former French ambassador to Washington, and then fly home at midnight.

C. I. Starr, 85, was asleep in a motel a half-block from the explosion. "You'd have thought it was a big explosion coming down from the sky," he said. "I was in bed. The doors and windows blew out, and there was smoke and flame everywhere. Somebody, I think it was the fireman, took me out the back window. I grabbed all the clothes I could and they helped me get out a back window."

Police and firemen had lines set up as far as four blocks away holding back the curious. The plant was located on the edge of a residential district and business area.
